

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT.

Brookline, March 1st, 1870.

During the past year our Library Building has been completed and opened to the public, and the grounds connected therewith have been graded, fenced, and provided with substantial avenues and walks, and concrete sidewalks with granite edgestone laid upon the three public streets adjoining the same.

The cost of the building, with furniture and appointments, in complete working order, has been about $45,000. The architect was Louis Weissbein, Esq., of Boston, and the contractors for the various parts of the work were as follows: Mason's work (including slating and plastering), Horace James; Carpenter's, N. Lyford; Freestone, E. F. Meany; Granite, Frederick & Field; Cellar, J. Driscoll; painting, B. F. Baker; Gas Fixtures, M. W. Pierce & Co.; Heating Apparatus and Tinning, Kenrick Brothers.

It became necessary, by vote of the Town, to grade, fence and prepare all the land of the Town between Washington, School, and Prospect Streets, including about 65,000 feet of land, purchased at eight different times by the Town, and which was extremely rough and unsightly. The work done here has been important and effectual, and will be a great improvement to the property of the Town, and to the whole vicinity. The cost of these improvements will appear in the Treasurer's Report.

Our Public Library was opened December 2d, 1857, in a single room, with 900 volumes ; it was re-opened October 18th, 1869, with nearly 12,000 volumes, in a building dedicated to Library purposes, with its large hall, of a capacity for 50,000 volumes, — commodious Reading Room, and Waiting Room, — Librarian's Room, — Trustees' Hall, — Committee Room, — and six other rooms of convenient and ample accommodations for all the working departments of a public library, for the present and future.

The rooms of the Library were opened to the public on the 13th day of October last, and the Reading Room was opened, and the delivery of books was commenced October 18th, upon three afternoons and evenings of each week ; and on and after November 1st, the Reading Room has been open, and books delivered every afternoon and evening (Sundays excepted) from 3 to 9, P. M.

The removal of more than 11,000 volumes from the old shelves, and their arrangement in the new alcoves, with the necessary alterations in catalogues, have been attended with great labor, and have prevented the preparation and publication of supplemental catalogues. When these shall have been completed, our library arrangements and conveniences will be of the most unexceptionable character.

Congratulating our fellow citizens on these new attractions, and this substantial progress in our town, we refer to the Report in detail of our Librarian, which is hereto annexed.

The Town will be called upon to elect four Trustees for the term of three years.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 15, 1870.

To the Trustees of the Public Library:

GENTLEMEN:—The Librarian would congratulate the Trustees on the ample and convenient accommodations which are now enjoyed for the Public Library. The experience of three months justifies us in saying that in its arrangements the new building thus far fully meets the wants of the Library, and the expectations of its friends. The rooms are spacious, airy, well-lighted, easily warmed, and well adapted each to its respective purpose. The public who come for books or to avail themselves of the privileges offered in the Reading Room, find pleasant and quiet apartments; while the assistants in the Library can follow a system in their work, thus securing economy in labor and in time. Indeed, as yet, we fail to see wherein the building in its internal arrangements could be improved.

The Library has been open during the last year for the delivery of books 161 days,—65 days while in the old quarters, where now Music and Justice alternately hold court, and 96 days since its removal to the new building. Books were first delivered to the public in this building Oct. 18th, 1869; and thereafter on three days in the week during October; and since Nov. 1st every day in the week, Sundays excepted, from 3 o'clock, P. M. to 9 o'clock, P. M. The number of volumes borrowed from the Library will be shown by the statistics below.

The Reading Room has been open to the public during the same hours in which books are loaned from the Library. The extent to which this room is used cannot be so easily or so accurately shown. It is, however, very much used by ladies and gentlemen, and by youth above fourteen years of age; and will probably be resorted to still more when the public generally know the kind and the enlarged amount of reading-matter to be found upon the tables there. The names of the magazines and periodicals now placed in the Reading Room are as follows ;—

Army and Navy Journal,	London Punch,
Appleton's Journal,	London Quarterly Review,
Atlantic Monthly,	London Society,
Bibliotheca Sacra,	Merchant's Magazine,
Blackwood's Magazine,	The Nation,
Boys and Girls,	N. England Genealo. Register,
The Builder,	New Jerusalem Magazine,
Chambers' Journal,	North American Review,
The Citizen,	North British Review,
Cornhill Magazine,	Old and New,
Country Gentleman,	Our Dumb Animals,
Dublin University Magazine,	Our Young Folks,
Edinburgh Review,	Putnam's Monthly,
Every Saturday,	Reform League,
The Galaxy,	Riverside Magazine,
Good Health,	Scientific American,
Harper's Monthly,	Sunday Magazine,
Harper's Weekly,	Temple Bar,
Intellectual Observer,	Westminster Review,
Living Age,	Woman's Journal,
London Illustrated News,	Young Gentleman's Magazine.

These magazines and periodicals are placed in the Reading Room as soon after their publication as we can procure them. After they have ceased to be used in this room they are sent to the Binder to be bound into volumes, and are then arranged and preserved in the Book Hall.

Books may also be taken from the Library to be read in the Reading Room. Indeed the privileges in this room offered to the citizens of Brookline are remarkable. We do not believe a more pleasant Reading Room with so large a variety of reading matter can be found in New England outside of Boston.

The hall where the books are arranged has 20 alcoves along the sides,—10 on the first floor, and 10 on the second. Each alcove on the first floor has six tiers of shelves and nine shelves in each tier; on the second floor each alcove has seven tiers and each tier has nine shelves. At the ends of the hall above and below there are in all eighteen additional tiers of shelves. Hence the entire number of shelves in the hall is 1282; and they will hold about 44,000 volumes. Arrangements can be made also for 20,000 to 25,000 volumes more to be accommodated. We have a building, therefore, that will accommodate about 70,000 volumes.

The alcoves on the lower floor are numbered from 1 to 10, beginning on the left as you enter the hall, and going to the right. Alcoves 1, 2, 9, and 10, contain novels, prose-fiction, books for children, and humorous works: alcove 3 contains works on travels and descriptive geography: alcove 4 contains works on mathematical and physical science: in alcove 5 are dictionaries and encyclopædias and other books for “reference:” in alcove 6 are bound volumes of magazines and reviews: alcove 7 contains works on history and chronology: in alcove 8 are works on biography.

On the second floor in alcove 12 are works on law, government, political and social philosophy; in one half of alcove 13 are works on education, and in the other half are works on language and literary criticism; in alcove 14 are the collected prose works of authors on diverse subjects, miscellanies, essays, speeches, etc.; in alcoves 15 and 16 are public documents, State and National, and statistics; in alcove 17 are works on theology and morals, and on one side works on mental philosophy; in alcove 18, on one side poetry and dramatic literature, on the other side are translations of Greek and Latin authors, and on the end are works in foreign languages; in alcove 19 are works on agriculture, horticulture, and architecture, also on games and sports. Alcoves 11 and 20 are not yet occupied: but one of them will soon be needed as additional accommodation for the department of history.

This classification of the books may not be absolutely the best one possible ; but for our Library we believe it to be a practicable and convenient one. In fixing the place of each department of books we have kept in mind the convenience of the assistants who deliver the books to the public, and have therefore placed those departments on the lower floor which are called for most ; and thus far we are much pleased with our arrangement.

Though in a Library like ours we do not claim that the department of Pamphlets should be a very distinguishing feature, yet if they are properly classified, and so arranged that any pamphlet can at once be found, the value of this department becomes so great that we cannot afford to ignore it. Sometimes a single pamphlet contains just the information that a man desires ; and that information may be found nowhere else.

We are therefore glad to receive pamphlets, and we already have a large number of them. The room which has been fitted up for their accommodation, seems admirably adapted to its purpose. Shelves extend around the room, and the spaces between the shelves are divided into compartments. Pamphlets relating to the same subject will be arranged in a particular compartment ; hence it will be an easy matter to find a pamphlet if we have it. The pamphlets which we now have were given to the Library by the citizens ; none have been purchased.

The great need of the Library at the present time is a new catalogue. The last one was printed in 1865, and hence contains the titles of only about half the books now in the Library ; and these books which are not in the catalogue are the ones more recently published, and also the ones in which the public are most interested. Not an individual in town, outside of the Trustees and the Librarian, knows what books are in the Library ; nor from the nature of the case can he know. We claim that we have one of the very best libraries in Massachusetts, after excepting those in Boston and Cambridge. But this does not appear from our printed catalogue. We have a written cat-atalogue containing the titles of all the books in the Library ; but the impossibility of giving the public free access to this, is at once seen. The only way to inform the public what books are in the Library is to show them a printed catalogue of its contents. There is daily and continual demand for such a catalogue ; and we do not believe the money necessary to defray the expenses of printing it, could be more usefully expended in connection with the Library.

For the convenience of the citizens we will append to this Report a list of the books added to the Library during the years 1868 and 1869.

RULES AND REGULATIONS
OF THE
PUBLIC LIBRARY OF BROOKLINE.

ADOPTED BY THE INHABITANTS AT THE ANNUAL TOWN MEETING, MARCH 25, 1861.

P R E A M B L E .

THE town of Brookline agrees to hold and manage, for the use of its inhabitants, any devise, bequest, or donation it may receive and accept for the establishment, increase, or maintenance of its Public Library.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Board of Trustees, and their Powers and Duties.

ARTICLE I. — There shall be a Board of Twelve Trustees, four of whom shall be elected by ballot annually, at the annual town-meeting, to hold office for three years thereafter, or until their successors shall be chosen, and qualified to act. The Trustees chosen at the annual meeting in the year 1860, shall, at their first regular meeting, divide themselves by lot into three classes. Those of the first class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1861; those of the second class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting in the year 1862; and those of the third class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1863.

ART. II. — The officers of the Board of Trustees shall consist of a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Librarian ; all of whom shall be members of the Board, except the Secretary and Librarian, who may be appointed by the Board, at such compensation as they shall determine ; the same to be paid from the appropriation for town-officers.

ART. III. — The Board of Trustees shall hold regular meetings on the third Tuesday of every month, except August.

ART. IV. — The President shall call a special meeting of the Board at the written request of any two members, provided such request shall state the object of the proposed meeting ; and he may at any time call a special meeting, at his own discretion. All meetings shall be seasonably notified by the Secretary in writing.

ART. V. — The Standing Committees of the Board shall consist of three members each, and shall be as follows : viz., 1. The Committee on the Library ; 2. The Committee on Accounts and Finances. And they shall at all times be under the control and direction of the Board.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Library,—

First, To recommend to the Board, from time to time, such books as it may be desirable to purchase or exchange.

Second, To make such purchases and exchanges of books as the Board may authorize.

Third, To direct in regard to the binding and covering of books, and their preparation for circulation.

Fourth, To determine, subject to the sanction of the Board, what books shall be used only for reference ; and to impose such other restriction on the use of the books as in their judgment may be expedient, subject to the sanction aforesaid.

Fifth, Annually, to make an examination of the Library, and prepare, for the adoption of the Board, a report of the condition of the Library, to be presented to the town at the annual meeting.

Sixth, To see that the rules and regulations relative to the Library are complied with.

Seventh, To see that proper books and forms are prepared for the use of the Librarian.

Eighth, To superintend the preparation and printing of such catalogues in the books of the Library as the Board may direct.

Ninth, To have the general charge and direction of the Library rooms.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on Accounts and Finances,—

First, To examine all bills against the Library, and, if correct, to approve the same.

Second, To employ such means as they may deem best to obtain donations in money and books for the increase of the Library : all money thus received to be paid over to the Treasurer, and by him passed to the credit of the Library-fund, to be appropriated at the order of the Board.

ART. VI. — At the first regular meeting in April, the officers and Standing Committees of the Board shall be chosen by ballot ; and they shall respectively continue to hold office till their successors are appointed. In case of any vacancy occurring during the year, it may be filled at any regular meeting.

ART. VII. — Four members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business ; and any number more than one may adjourn a meeting, when a quorum is not present.

ART. VIII. — No book, pamphlet, work of art, or other object whatsoever, offered by any person to the Library, shall be accepted and placed therein, except by express vote of the Board, unless by direction of the town ; and immediate notice of acceptance shall then be given to the donor, with a suitable acknowledgment.

ART. IX. — All books, pamphlets, and articles in the Public Library may be exchanged at any time at the discretion of the Trustees for the time being; provided, however, that books, pamphlets, and articles presented to the Library shall not be disposed of, except with the consent of the donor, or his or her oldest heir-at-law.

CHAPTER II.

Of the use of the Library.

ART. I. — Any inhabitant of the town of Brookline, who shall sign an obligation to observe all the existing Rules and Regulations of the Library and all that may be subsequently adopted, shall have free right to take books therefrom, so long as he or she shall comply with the same.

ART. II. — No person shall be allowed more than one volume, and no family of the same household shall be allowed more than three volumes at any one time. Books may be kept out of the Library fourteen days only; provided always that any book may be renewed once to the same person, but not more than once, until it shall have remained in the Library one full Library-day. The fine for the retention of any volume over the time above specified shall be two cents for every day it is so retained. The provisions of this article are subject to the discretionary power conferred upon the Committee on the Library by Art. 5, chap. 1.

ART. III. — Any book retained two weeks beyond the time prescribed by these regulations shall be sent for by the Librarian; and the expense incurred in obtaining it shall be paid by such delinquent.

ART. IV. — All injuries to books beyond a reasonable wear, and all losses, shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Committee on the Library by the person liable ; and any book not returned within one week after demand made for it by the Librarian shall be regarded as lost. If any book be lost, the person for whose use it was taken out shall pay such a sum as the said Committee shall determine, or replace the book ; or, if it be one of a set, he or she shall pay the price of the set, and take the remaining volumes, if the said Committee shall so determine.

ART. V. — All books are required to be returned to the Library fourteen days before the annual examination, under penalty of a fine of one dollar ; but seasonable notice of the time shall be given by the Librarian.

ART. VI. — No person having a book from the Library shall lend it to a person not a member of the same household ; and no person owing a fine of forfeiture shall receive books from the Library until the same is paid.

ART. VII. — Every person desiring to take books from the Library for home use shall receive from the Librarian a printed card, on which the book asked for shall be designated, also the number of the shelf on which it stands, in blanks left for the purpose ; and this card, which will be presented to the Librarian as the only mode of obtaining any book which may be asked for, will be retained until the book shall be returned by the borrower.

ART. VIII. — Books of reference, and those deemed by the Board unsuitable for general circulation, shall not be lent, except by an order signed by at least two of the Trustees.

ART. IX. — All persons visiting the Library-rooms will be required to demean themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation in the rooms. Any person abusing the privileges of the Library by improper or offensive conduct will be denied admission to the rooms.

ART. X. — The Library rooms shall be open for the use and delivery of books at such times as the Committee of the Library shall designate, but not less frequently than on two afternoons and evenings of every week.

CHAPTER III.

Of the Librarian and his duties.

ART. I. — The Librarian, under the direction of the Committee on the Library, shall have the charge and superintendence of all the rooms of the Public Library, and shall be responsible for the due care and keeping of all the books and other public property contained in them.

ART. II. — He shall be present in the Library in person, or by an assistant, during such times as it may be open to the public; and perform all such duties, under the direction of the Board, as are usually incumbent upon a Librarian.

ART. III. — He shall arrange all the books on the shelves in an order convenient for use; and shall enter, in a record to be kept for that purpose, the time when each book was received; its cost, if purchased; the name of its donor, if given; and any other facts relating to it which the Board may direct: such record to be called the “Catalogue of Accessions.”

ART. IV. — He shall prepare such catalogues, books, and forms as the Committee on the Library may direct.

ART. V. — He shall acknowledge all gifts to the Library as soon as they shall have been reported to the Board and accepted; first procuring the signature of the President to each acknowledgment he may make.

ART. VI. — He shall keep a careful record of all such books as are asked for and are not in the Library, and of the names of the persons asking for them ; and exhibit the same to the Committee on the Library, whenever it shall be called for.

ART. VII. — He shall cause a book-plate to be securely fastened in each volume belonging to the Library, — noting on it the date of the book's reception ; the name of the donor, if it be a gift ; the number of the shelf on which it is kept ; and the number it may bear on the Catalogue of Accessions. He shall permit no book to be used or taken until it shall have been entered in said Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. VIII. — He shall annually, at the discretion of the Committee on the Library, call in all books that are out, and prepare for examination the books and other property of the Library under his control ; and shall, at the same time, make and present to the Committee on the Library a detailed report of its condition and increase during the year.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE BROOKLINE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1871.

In presenting to the Town a brief statement of the history of the Public Library for the past year, the Trustees would congratulate the citizens upon its continued prosperity and usefulness. The year has been marked by many tokens of progress.

The number of visitors has largely increased, and the call for books has taxed our means of delivery to the utmost. The additions to the Library proper, as well as to the list of periodicals in the Reading Room, are generally of permanent interest and value.

A new and complete catalogue is in course of preparation, and will soon be ready for the press. This long desired aid will prove of great advantage to the reading community, and together with other additional facilities, will, it is hoped, render the delivery of books more easy for the assistants, and less tedious to visitors.

The past year will be memorable in the history of our Town for the gift to the Public Library of Ten Thousand Dollars from Mr. John L. Gardner, a citizen of Brookline. This donation was without restriction or condition; and the Board of Trustees, in behalf of the Town, communicated to Mr. Gardner their appreciation of his munificence.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE BROOKLINE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1871.

In presenting to the Town a brief statement of the history of the Public Library for the past year, the Trustees would congratulate the citizens upon its continued prosperity and usefulness. The year has been marked by many tokens of progress.

The number of visitors has largely increased, and the call for books has taxed our means of delivery to the utmost. The additions to the Library proper, as well as to the list of periodicals in the Reading Room, are generally of permanent interest and value.

A new and complete catalogue is in course of preparation, and will soon be ready for the press. This long desired aid will prove of great advantage to the reading community, and together with other additional facilities, will, it is hoped, render the delivery of books more easy for the assistants, and less tedious to visitors.

The past year will be memorable in the history of our Town for the gift to the Public Library of Ten Thousand Dollars from Mr. John L. Gardner, a citizen of Brookline. This donation was without restriction or condition; and the Board of Trustees, in behalf of the Town, communicated to Mr. Gardner their appreciation of his munificence.

Mr. Gardner's letter, with the accompanying check for $10,000, was dated January 6th, 1871; and immediately after the receipt thereof, the Board met for deliberation on the subject. The Trustees were unanimous in the determination to invest this sum, and to preserve it as a distinct investment, to be known as the "Gardner Fund," the interest whereof should be devoted to the purchase of such rare or choice books as would not ordinarily be within the limits of the current town appropriations.

All books which shall be purchased from the "Gardner Fund" will be so marked; and in a few years a noble collection of standard and valuable works will be the result of this timely and much-prized gift of our respected fellow-citizen, whilst the Fund itself will remain an unfailing source of supply.

As a slight testimonial to the donor, the Trustees voted that the Reading Room should be hereafter known and designated as Gardner Hall.

The constantly increasing demand for books has rendered necessary the engagement of a second assistant Librarian. With this additional force the Trustees are enabled to meet the wishes of a large number of citizens, and the Library will henceforth be open to the public from 10, A. M. to 1, P. M., as well as during the afternoon and evening.

An appropriation of $1,000 for making and printing the new catalogue is recommended, in addition to the regular appropriations, for purchasing books, and maintaining the institution.

The Town will be called upon to elect four Trustees for the term of three years.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 15, 1871.

To the Trustees of the Public Library :

GENTLEMEN :—The Library has now been established thirteen years, and the increased interest of the public in it, the great number of books read and consulted, and the large extent to which all classes of the citizens frequent the Reading Room, must be certainly gratifying to the friends of the institution. During the first ten or twelve years of the existence of the Library, its friends foresaw what would be its advantages to the town, and felt positive that its privileges would be improved and appreciated, if an appropriate building with attractive and convenient arrangements could be offered to the citizens. Such a building and such arrangements are now offered ; and they fully realize the anticipated results. Compared to the old accommodations in the Town Hall, the gain is almost infinite to the public, as well as to those who do the work in the Library.

Since our last annual report, more than 33,000 volumes have been borrowed from the Library. These books have been taken to all parts of the town, from Walnut Hill to Longwood, furnishing, we believe, an amount of information and rational entertainment not to be secured by an equal outlay of money in any other direction.

During the year the Library has been open for the delivery of books 307 days, from 3 o'clock P. M. to 9 o'clock P. M. The Reading Room, now called Gardner Hall in accordance with a vote of the Trustees, has been open to the public during the same hours ; and the average number daily visiting this hall to read the magazines and periodicals placed on the tables there, has been somewhat more than thirty. We are glad to be able to say that the magazines have generally been carefully used. But two or three instances of depravity and stealing have occurred. Some one with despicable meanness cut from the binding London Punch for December and January, and surreptitiously carried it from the building. This case we have put into the hands of the Police, and hope to make a public example of such dastardly vandalism. We would invite all well-disposed persons, who visit the Reading Room, to co-operate with us in preventing all or any annoyances there; and we sincerely hope that any mischief witnessed there will be at once reported to the Librarian.

The following named periodicals are now placed in the Reading Room :—

The Advocate of Peace,	London Illustrated News,
Aldine,	London Punch,
Am. Journal of Numismatics,	London Quarterly Review,
American Law Review,	London Society,
Appleton's Journal,	Macmillan's Magazine,
Army and Navy Journal,	Merchant's Magazine,
Atlantic Monthly,	The Nation,
Belgravia,	N. E. Genealogical Register,
Bibliotheca Sacra,	New Jerusalem Magazine,
Blackwood's Magazine,	North American Review,
Boston Daily Traveller,	North British Review,
Boston Pilot,	Old and New,
Boys and Girls,	Our Dumb Animals,
Chambers' Journal,	Our Young Folks,
Cornhill Magazine,	Overland Monthly,
Dublin University Magazine,	Putnam's Monthly,
Edinburgh Review,	Religious Magazine,
Every Saturday,	Riverside Magazine,
Folio,	Scientific American,
Galaxy,	Scribner's Monthly,
Good Health,	Student and Intellectual Ob.,
The Graphic,	Sunday Magazine,
Harper's Monthly,	Temple Bar,
Harper's Weekly,	Watchman and Reflector,
Lakeside Monthly,	Western Home,
Lippincott's Magazine,	Westminster Review,
Literary World,	Woman's Journal,
Living Age,	Young Gentleman's Magazine.

Here are fifty-six selected periodicals supplied for the citizens as soon as practicable after their publication. The object aimed at in the selection has been to furnish the best in our language in every department of this kind of literature. And the unrestricted use of the Reading Room will be indicated by the following regulation : —

“ All persons above the age of fourteen years, of respectable character, and of such orderly conduct and condition as not to interfere with the occupations and comfort of others, shall have free access to the Reading Room, during all the regular hours.”

We cannot report entire satisfaction in regard to the care, or rather want of care, exhibited by some, for the books while in their possession. A book in constant use, even under proper treatment, will in time become unfit for further circulation. But with ordinary care, a book, covered as all ours are, would last a long time. A majority of the borrowers treat the books well ; but others do not treat them well. To talk with some of these latter, one would infer that the ill-treatment of the books was not intentional, so much as it was consequent upon ignorance of the manner in which a book ought to be treated. And there are still others who in addition to being culpable of abusing the books, are equally culpable of violating the eighth commandment of the decalogue ; such are fined or are denied the privilege of further borrowing books from the Library. Still the evil is not wholly remedied, and hence, much of the assistants' time is unnecessarily taken up in covering books, and equally unnecessarily is our bill increased at the book-binders. Undoubtedly the individuals who frequent our library and avail themselves of its privileges, will compare favorably with those frequenting similar institutions in other towns. Still there is room for improvement, for which we earnestly solicit the coöperation of all good citizens.

We are glad to say that good progress has been made in the new Catalogue which is so much needed. The manuscript for the whole of it will be ready for the printer in a few months at longest.

A classification of the pamphlets belonging to the library has also been begun, and we hope, will be carried nearer to completion during the coming year.

The following are the statistics of the library for 1870-71.

Number of days on which books have been delivered,	307

REPORT.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1872.

During the past year, some improvements have been made in the working arrangements of our Library; and we are now able to report, that, in all its details of delivery and arrangement, the Brookline Public Library is second to none of the Public Libraries, and enjoys all the modern improvements. We present herewith a condensed statement of the reports of the Librarian and Assistants, which are made to the present date.

The books in the Library have been re-arranged and re-numbered, during the past season.

This work began August 11, and continued without interruption until November 2; during this time all the books upon the lower floor (ten alcoves containing 7,490 volumes) were classified, numbered, and in most instances re-covered and re-labelled.

Full shelf-lists were prepared for each alcove; as well as a printed finding-list for alcoves 1, 2, 9 and 10, and manuscript finding-lists for alcoves 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8.

Since January 1, the alcoves in the gallery (containing 5,833 volumes) have been duly classified and arranged according to the general plan adopted for the lower floor, involving the same amount of labor. The work is now completed, and all the books in the Library are ready for circulation.

In the process of classification 800 duplicate volumes have been removed from the shelves and sent to an upper room, where they are to be properly arranged and registered. This removal makes ample room for growth upon all our shelves,—and it is to be hoped that the generous friends of the Library will bear this significant fact in mind.

The rules adopted by the Town for the government of the Library have required all the books to be called in, for annual examination. This was formerly done in February; but the time fixed for this purpose, the present year, was July 14.

A more mature experience has satisfied us that an examination can be made, without closing the Library. This course is now commended in many Public Libraries.

A careful investigation of the subject, and the opinions of experienced advisers, connected with Public Libraries, determined the Board to make a change in the numbering of the books, their delivery, and other important details in the management of the Library.

The plan adopted was that which had been originated, and successfully prosecuted in the Boston Public Library.

The report of that Library, for the last year, shows that 293,710 volumes were taken out for home use, of which all but thirty-nine were returned.

The most important change made in our own Library is the re-numbering the volumes; and, without this, our own library facilities would have been entirely inferior to those of other Public Libraries. This improvement has required much time and labor and patience, but its importance cannot be too highly estimated.

In their investigations on this subject, the Board, by two distinct sub-committees, have visited several of the most successful Public Libraries in the vicinity, and have adopted those arrangements which appeared to be most desirable and useful.

Under the system adopted in our Library from its commencement, the books had been dealt with by their titles, and so charged; but in all the most successful of the Public Libraries, as they are managed at the present time, each volume is treated by a number indicating its exact position upon the shelves.

The books are asked for by these shelf numbers, and are so charged to the borrowers.

The advantages of this system are the readiness of tracing volumes to the borrower, and of securing their return to the Library, according to its rules, as well as the facility of delivery, and the dispensing with the cumbrous ledger of nearly a thousand pages.

The little slips of paper filled out and presented by the borrower, are the only book accounts of the Library, and, by an ingenious arrangement, they present to the officers, daily, a correct statement of the circulation, the books loaned, and to whom, and the names of delinquent borrowers.

No change has been made in the rules as to the mode of taking out books, or in the time allowed to borrowers. From the first they were taken out by card, and fourteen days, with a privilege of renewal, was the time allowed. The additional trouble to the borrower, by filling out the slips, is hardly appreciable, while this particular mode is in itself the important machinery for carrying on the work of the Library, and saves infinite trouble to the managers.

We must remember, after all, that in providing the facilities and privileges of a Public Library, the most liberal arrangements can only approximate towards perfect accommodations for the borrowing public. There cannot be entire freedom to all in the use of the Library. "If but one person had the right to use the Library, he might range it at will, and who can doubt that his profiting thereby might be vastly greater than it can be, if he is restricted in borrowing books, or in free access to the alcoves. But it is obvious that such privileges cannot be accorded to many persons without greatly impairing the usefulness of a Public Library. The books would inevitably be displaced and lost, and the Library would soon fall into hopeless confusion." It is not then merely red tape that establishes reasonable rules for the proper use of the Public Library, and exacts a substantial compliance.

The rules of the Brookline Public Library, from its establishment, have been more liberal than those of any of the Public Libraries; and the Trustees, in their investigations, have found none, allowing greater privileges. It is obvious, that if any longer period were allowed for retaining books,—that the privilege of reading such books would be restricted to a very few borrowers. It becomes necessary, therefore, that prompt notice should be given to borrowers, of their omission to return volumes, under the rules. In the Boston Public Library, during the past year, one, out of every fifteen books taken out, was kept beyond the prescribed time:—in our own Library, this has occurred in one out of every nineteen volumes borrowed. The books loaned, during the past season, have been, for the most part, carefully used; although, in the juvenile department, the experience of the past is continued, and we have to state, in the language of a former report: “These books appear to have received a good deal of rough usage, and some of them are found in a state the reverse of cleanliness. Library books should be received and used by clean hands, and, while in the houses of the borrowers, kept in a place not more uncleanly, than the shelves of the library alcoves.” Some of our young friends, also, will occasionally commit trespasses upon the magazines and papers in the reading room, which, although not of serious pecuniary loss, are troublesome and annoying. If they will only remember, that these little acts of thoughtlessness on their part are really annoying to the young ladies who always try to assist them, and are anxious that the visits of all to the Library should be pleasant;—perhaps, the gallantry of our juvenile friends will induce them to a thoughtful forbearance in the future.

In the month of July, and soon after the commencement of the school vacation, this Board were informed of the decision of the School Committee, which seemed to require the whole of the working time of the teachers for their school duties. With almost simultaneous conviction, the Trustees of the Public Library had determined, that the exclusive services of a competent and experienced person were necessary for the superintendence of the Library. The subsequent acceptance, by Mr. Hoar, of the proposals of the School Committee, required his resignation of the office of librarian; which was accepted by the Board, with suitable acknowledgments of his services.

The experience of the past season has satisfied us, that the peculiar labors, demanded in the organization and management of a Public Library, render the business of the librarian a specialty. It is an art, as much as any of the learned professions; and involves study, experience, and talent. In the work of re-arranging, re-numbering, and making lists of books, we have employed Miss H. H. Ames, and Miss M. A. Bean, who were highly recommended to the Board, and have discharged their duties, satisfactorily. These ladies having had the experience of several years in some of the best public and private libraries of the country, and having studied under the ablest talent, have made this business their profession. After several weeks' acquaintance with Miss Bean, and being thoroughly satisfied with her industry, capacity, and learning, the Board appointed her as librarian, on the first day of December, 1871.

Under the charge of the librarian and two assistants, all departments of the Library are now in good working order.

The Library is opened to the public from 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. and from 3 P. M. to 9 P. M.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1883.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN,—The customary records of another year of library work are herewith respectfully submitted in my eleventh annual report.

Little can be said of the year ending January 31, 1883, which has not already been said of many of its predecessors. Its statistics vary somewhat, but the general experience and results are substantially the same. Following, as it does, in the wake of a specially laborious year, its history seems particularly devoid of items of interest, although it has been one in which the library has maintained its own in all essential points of condition and growth, while its circulation not only shows increase in numbers but perceptible improvement in character. It has been distinguished by greater demands upon the standard works, by more frequent consultation of books of reference, and by a more general tendency to utilize the library for purposes of study and investigation—all hopeful indications of the future possibilities of our institution.

CONDITION.

The library continues in the same generally excellent condition as last reported, without deterioration of any kind, save the ordinary wear and tear incident to the frequent use of books. Comparatively few have reached that dilapidated condition which demands withdrawal or re-binding, only 97 volumes having been worn out and 269 others re-bound—a very fair showing in consideration of the length of time that many of the books have been in service, and the very great strain to which a large proportion of them have been subjected by constant circulation.

Very much might, however, be said on the necessity of greater care of library books, especially in regard to cleanliness; but I will simply call attention to the fact that 11,800 book-covers had to be renewed last year, a number greatly in excess of anything ever reported, and largely owing to the untidy condition in which books are daily returned to us.

Forty-seven volumes have been replaced out of the ninety-seven withdrawn, and the remainder, with few exceptions, will soon be restored.

In numbers the library has reached an aggregate of 27,089 volumes, and being thoroughly equipped with catalogues, school-lists, monthly bulletins, and all other working facilities needful for the development of this material, it is really equal to an immense amount of additional usefulness, if only its resources and capacity were fully called into action.

ACCESSIONS.

For various reasons our accessions have not equalled in number those of last year, principally because the number of gifts has fallen below the general average, and also because the last half-year's instalment of periodicals has not yet been bound, this item alone making a difference of nearly a hundred volumes.

The purchases of the year outnumber those last reported, although considerable sums have been diverted from book-buying to meet sundry extra expenses, including the laying of a new floor in the book-hall, the new shelving for the accommodation of the reference library, and a new supply of covering paper,—in each case the outlay being warranted by necessity even at the possible sacrifice of a few hundred new books.

The statistics of accessions are as follows:—698 vols. by purchase, 87 vols. by exchange of duplicates, 134 vols. by gift, and 38 vols. by binding of magazines, amounting to a total gain of 957 volumes. The gift of 421 pamphlets and 484 odd numbers of periodicals completing the list of additions.

CIRCULATION.

The circulation for 307 library days has been 45,363 volumes for home use, at an average of 148 per day, and 3,489 volumes for reading and reference in the library, making a total count of 48,852 volumes called for and registered at the desk, or on the Trustees' account.

This delivery indicates an increase of 3,287 over last year, the demand being about equally divided between home and library use, the latter having the lead somewhat, owing partly to the fact that for the greater portion of the year we have been compelled to register every volume of pictorial papers in order to check the mischievous or malicious abuse to which these volumes are subjected — the only sure method being daily examination which brings prompt retribution upon every offender.

The casual accompaniments of this circulation have been two books never returned—two books lost but replaced voluntarily by the losers—three others injured and rebound at the expense of the borrowers—and about sixty cases of pencil-marking and mutilation detected and fined.

Notices have been sent to 2,921 persons for books overdue, the proceeds amounting to $134.81. An additional sum of $16.00 has been collected for violations of the regulation against marking books, making the gross receipts from fines to be $154.81.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

The work of the circulating department has been carried on with great industry and fidelity, and I gladly record my appreciation of the services which keep this work so well in hand.

SIXTEENTH

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE BROOKLINE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

REPORT.

The statistics, presented in the accompanying statements from the Librarian, indicate the details of the management of the Library during the year.

The Library is in good order, and its various departments have been conducted with commendable industry and harmony.

Our list of accessions shows the addition of books of a standard character, less than one fourth of the volumes added being in the department of juveniles and fiction.

The circulation is constantly increasing. The number of visitors in the reading room, and of those consulting books, has also increased.

The Trustees have only to add their satisfaction with the general management of the library, and with its use by visitors; and refer to the annexed report of the Librarian, for the history of our library work accomplished during the year.

While the ordinary work in each department of the Library has been carried forward quietly and successfully, the manuscript for a full catalogue has been prepared, and will be ready for the press early in April.

With the aid of this catalogue, and the present complete system of delivery, we may reasonably hope that the usefulness of the Library will be greatly increased.

ANNUAL REPORT

REPORT.

In presenting their Seventeenth Annual Report, the Trustees have but little to add to the accompanying statement of the Librarian, which gives in detail the work accomplished during the past year.

CATALOGUE.

After long and careful labor our catalogue has been completed, and we believe it to be as perfect a work as ability and faithfulness have yet produced. We daily receive evidences of its appreciation abroad, and the large increase in the circulation since it has been accessible to our own citizens, is the best argument for its usefulness at home.

A work of this kind may seem a very simple matter to the uninitiated, involving only a certain amount of time, but a catalogue of such a Library as ours can be made only by those who have the requisite skill, experience and education, and deserves to rank with other standard works of equal size.

To our accomplished Librarian, Miss Mary A. Bean, and her able assistant, Miss H. H. Ames, who makes cataloguing a specialty, we are entirely indebted for the successful accomplishment of the work.

The price which has been placed upon it is merely nominal, representing not one-third of the cost, and we hope that every

A SUGGESTION.

An additional room, to be devoted exclusively to quiet reading and study, has become almost indispensable to the comfort of many who are desirous of consulting our books of reference, standard works, and serial literature. Such a room could easily be added without great cost, and the Trustees would respectfully recommend this improvement to the town.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR 1873-74.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 24, 1874.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library :

GENTLEMEN,—The annual report of the condition, work and statistics of the Library is herewith respectfully submitted.

The year now closing has been one of continuous activity and increasing usefulness in the several departments of the Library. Most welcome evidences of a newly awakened interest in its welfare are manifest in the many liberal gifts which have contributed so materially to the number and value of its accessions for the year. The purchases, since our last report, have been somewhat less than in former years, owing to the fact that a large portion of the town appropriation was necessarily expended in the publication of the catalogue, an expenditure however, fully warranted by the pressing need of the Library, and already justified by the twofold result of a largely increasing circulation, and a growing improvement in the choice of books.

An experience of but three months has developed this gratifying result, which cannot fail to be a source of congratulation, since it assures the present success of the catalogue, and promises much for its future usefulness.

Within the past two years, our system of Library work has been entirely remodelled, and proves itself well adapted to the increased demand upon our working facilities. It has gained the cordial support of those familiar with its use at home, and has received hearty commendation from the frequent visitors who come to make special investigations in behalf of other libraries. In two instances, at least, our plan has been adopted and successfully put in operation.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

The total number of volumes now belonging to the Library is 16,669. Of this number 15,726 are upon the shelves, while the remaining 943 volumes are withdrawn duplicates stored in the pamphlet room. During the year, 49 volumes have been condemned as utterly worn out, of these 33 have been replaced, leaving 16 volumes actually withdrawn from the shelves. Only eight volumes have been lost by borrowers, and as seven of these were properly reported and replaced at the expense of the losers, one volume only remains upon our record as absolutely missing—a case where both book and borrower disappeared together.

ACCESSIONS.

Our accessions for the year amount to 1,092 volumes, 748 of which have been purchased, 250 presented, and 94 bound from the current periodicals. The total accession of pamphlets has been 908, all of them gifts; unbound and miscellaneous periodicals to the number of 1,243 have also been contributed by numerous friends.

CIRCULATION.

The increase in circulation since the last report is no less gratifying than remarkable, and indicates in a marked manner the advantages of our Library system.

The Library has been open for the delivery of books 300 days during the past year, and 50,120 volumes have been delivered for home reading (against 308 days, and 37,105 volumes reported last year), making an average of 167 volumes per day. The largest weekly issue was 1,093 volumes, the largest daily issue, 302 volumes.

This circulation has involved the sending out of 2,693 notices for the return of books kept beyond the specified time, being an average of nine per day. The fines collected in consequence amount to $132.64.

LIBRARY WORK.

An intelligent glance at the above figures will afford no little insight into the amount of work necessary to meet the demand of this one department, especially when it is remembered that books are not only delivered but returned in equal numbers each day, that all such must daily be examined and replaced upon their respective shelves, while an average of 32 per day must be recovered and labelled before being fit for service. Our yearly record exhibits in regard to this one item, 9,640 volumes covered and labelled, of which number 925 were new books. The remaining 8,715 volumes are a standing rebuke to the unclean hands and careless habits which render such labor a necessity. Due allowance being made for all unavoidable wear and tear, where shall we find excuse for the accumulation of soiled and greasy covers which daily find their way to the waste basket.

While thus presenting a few phases of the work involved in the daily routine, it gives me the pleasant opportunity of recording the very faithful services of our attentive assistants, Misses Amelia and Clara A. Woods, to whom the circulating department is entrusted.

CATALOGUE.

The great need of a catalogue having asserted itself, your Librarian was instructed to prepare a full one upon cards, and from that to furnish a printed index for the use of the public. This plan involved careful labor, and necessarily a great length of time, and was therefore abandoned for the speedier method of preparing the catalogue directly from the books. It was furthermore deemed expedient to hasten the work by securing the special services of Miss Ames, already well-known to the Trustees through her previous work in the Library. The compilation and revision devolved almost entirely upon her, the Librarian having the general superintendence, and rendering at all times such assistance as the regular duties of her position would permit. The first instalment of copy was sent to the printers in April last, and as the charge of the printing was also committed to the compilers, two revisions of every form were carefully corrected, each page of the catalogue thus receiving four and often five critical readings. No great progress was made by the printers until June, but from that time the work was carried on vigorously until its completion in October. The catalogues were delivered to the Library in November and have been in constant use since that time.

All books added to the Library since the publication of the catalogue are entered in the interleaved copies prepared for this special purpose, which can at all times be consulted at the desk. A printed list of these accessions will also be appended to this report.

Manuscript bulletins are constantly accessible in the waiting room to meet the demand for the newest books. A list of future accessions will accompany each annual report, and every reasonable effort will be made to meet the wants of an appreciative public.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

REPORT.

In presenting their Seventeenth Annual Report, the Trustees have but little to add to the accompanying statement of the Librarian, which gives in detail the work accomplished during the past year.

CATALOGUE.

After long and careful labor our catalogue has been completed, and we believe it to be as perfect a work as ability and faithfulness have yet produced. We daily receive evidences of its appreciation abroad, and the large increase in the circulation since it has been accessible to our own citizens, is the best argument for its usefulness at home.

A work of this kind may seem a very simple matter to the uninitiated, involving only a certain amount of time, but a catalogue of such a Library as ours can be made only by those who have the requisite skill, experience and education, and deserves to rank with other standard works of equal size.

To our accomplished Librarian, Miss Mary A. Bean, and her able assistant, Miss H. H. Ames, who makes cataloguing a specialty, we are entirely indebted for the successful accomplishment of the work.

The price which has been placed upon it is merely nominal, representing not one-third of the cost, and we hope that every family using the Library will consider it both a privilege and a duty to own a copy for consultation at home.

GIFTS.

It gives us great pleasure to publicly acknowledge a second large gift from John L. Gardner, Esq., who, last autumn, presented the sum of one thousand dollars to the Library, with the request that it be at once expended in the purchase of books. Many desirable volumes are the result of this timely generosity.

Valuable gifts of books and pamphlets have also been received from many of our towns-people, as will be seen by referring to the list in the Librarian's report. Among the most generous contributions are those of Mrs. J. Sullivan Warren, Mrs. William Dwight, Mrs. A. Barnett, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, Professor Runkle, and the Messrs. Amory.

Miss Rachel Cushing has given us a very interesting collection of Revolutionary Letters, written by Gen. Lincoln and other officers; and we have received from Henry G. Fay, Esq., a fine portrait of Rufus Choate, which has been framed and hung in Gardner Hall.

GENERAL WORK OF THE LIBRARY.

The routine work of the Library has been conducted in a manner highly satisfactory to the Trustees. The books are in as good condition as the largely increasing circulation permits, mutilated copies having been replaced, and all frequently supplied with fresh covers and labels.

PERIODICALS.

A considerable demand for the popular reviews and magazines having been indicated, the Trustees very gladly subscribed for a duplicate set, which can be taken out under special rules recited on a label attached to each number.

A SUGGESTION.

An additional room, to be devoted exclusively to quiet reading and study, has become almost indispensable to the comfort of many who are desirous of consulting our books of reference, standard works, and serial literature. Such a room could easily be added without great cost, and the Trustees would respectfully recommend this improvement to the town.

family using the Library will consider it both a privilege and a duty to own a copy for consultation at home.

GIFTS.

It gives us great pleasure to publicly acknowledge a second large gift from John L. Gardner, Esq., who, last autumn, presented the sum of one thousand dollars to the Library, with the request that it be at once expended in the purchase of books. Many desirable volumes are the result of this timely generosity.

Valuable gifts of books and pamphlets have also been received from many of our towns-people, as will be seen by referring to the list in the Librarian's report. Among the most generous contributions are those of Mrs. J. Sullivan Warren, Mrs. William Dwight, Mrs. A. Barnett, Hon. R. C. Winthrop, Professor Runkle, and the Messrs. Amory.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT FOR 1873-74.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 24, 1874.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library :

GENTLEMEN,—The annual report of the condition, work and statistics of the Library is herewith respectfully submitted.

The year now closing has been one of continuous activity and increasing usefulness in the several departments of the Library. Most welcome evidences of a newly awakened interest in its welfare are manifest in the many liberal gifts which have contributed so materially to the number and value of its accessions for the year. The purchases, since our last report, have been somewhat less than in former years, owing to the fact that a large portion of the town appropriation was necessarily expended in the publication of the catalogue, an expenditure however, fully warranted by the pressing need of the Library, and already justified by the twofold result of a largely increasing circulation, and a growing improvement in the choice of books.

An experience of but three months has developed this gratifying result, which cannot fail to be a source of congratulation, since it assures the present success of the catalogue, and promises much for its future usefulness.

Within the past two years, our system of Library work has been entirely remodelled, and proves itself well adapted to the increased demand upon our working facilities. It has gained the cordial support of those familiar with its use at home, and has received hearty commendation from the frequent visitors who come to make special investigations in behalf of other libraries. In two instances, at least, our plan has been adopted and successfully put in operation.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

The total number of volumes now belonging to the Library is 16,669. Of this number 15,726 are upon the shelves, while the remaining 943 volumes are withdrawn duplicates stored in the pamphlet room. During the year, 49 volumes have been condemned as utterly worn out, of these 33 have been replaced, leaving 16 volumes actually withdrawn from the shelves. Only eight volumes have been lost by borrowers, and as seven of these were properly reported and replaced at the expense of the losers, one volume only remains upon our record as absolutely missing—a case where both book and borrower disappeared together.

ACCESSIONS.

Our accessions for the year amount to 1,092 volumes, 748 of which have been purchased, 250 presented, and 94 bound from the current periodicals. The total accession of pamphlets has been 908, all of them gifts; unbound and miscellaneous periodicals to the number of 1,243 have also been contributed by numerous friends.

CIRCULATION.

The increase in circulation since the last report is no less gratifying than remarkable, and indicates in a marked manner the advantages of our Library system.

The Library has been open for the delivery of books 300 days during the past year, and 50,120 volumes have been delivered for home reading (against 308 days, and 37,105 volumes reported last year), making an average of 167 volumes per day. The largest weekly issue was 1,093 volumes, the largest daily issue, 302 volumes.

This circulation has involved the sending out of 2,693 notices for the return of books kept beyond the specified time, being an average of nine per day. The fines collected in consequence amount to $132.64.

LIBRARY WORK.

An intelligent glance at the above figures will afford no little insight into the amount of work necessary to meet the demand of this one department, especially when it is remembered that books are not only delivered but returned in equal numbers each day, that all such must daily be examined and replaced upon their respective shelves, while an average of 32 per day must be recovered and labelled before being fit for service. Our yearly record exhibits in regard to this one item, 9,640 volumes covered and labelled, of which number 925 were new books. The remaining 8,715 volumes are a standing rebuke to the unclean hands and careless habits which render such labor a necessity. Due allowance being made for all unavoidable wear and tear, where shall we find excuse for the accumulation of soiled and greasy covers which daily find their way to the waste basket.

While thus presenting a few phases of the work involved in the daily routine, it gives me the pleasant opportunity of recording the very faithful services of our attentive assistants, Misses Amelia and Clara A. Woods, to whom the circulating department is entrusted.

CATALOGUE.

The great need of a catalogue having asserted itself, your Librarian was instructed to prepare a full one upon cards, and from that to furnish a printed index for the use of the public. This plan involved careful labor, and necessarily a great length of time, and was therefore abandoned for the speedier method of preparing the catalogue directly from the books. It was furthermore deemed expedient to hasten the work by securing the special services of Miss Ames, already well-known to the Trustees through her previous work in the Library. The compilation and revision devolved almost entirely upon her, the Librarian having the general superintendence, and rendering at all times such assistance as the regular duties of her position would permit. The first instalment of copy was sent to the printers in April last, and as the charge of the printing was also committed to the compilers, two revisions of every form were carefully corrected, each page of the catalogue thus receiving four and often five critical readings. No great progress was made by the printers until June, but from that time the work was carried on vigorously until its completion in October. The catalogues were delivered to the Library in November and have been in constant use since that time.

All books added to the Library since the publication of the catalogue are entered in the interleaved copies prepared for this special purpose, which can at all times be consulted at the desk. A printed list of these accessions will also be appended to this report.

Manuscript bulletins are constantly accessible in the waiting room to meet the demand for the newest books. A list of future accessions will accompany each annual report, and every reasonable effort will be made to meet the wants of an appreciative public.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

REPORT.

The Trustees present herewith their eighteenth annual report, accompanied by the report of the Librarian, giving a detailed statement of the condition of the Library. Accompanying her report is an appendix, with tables showing the books presented to the Library during the past year, their number and character, and giving a list of works purchased from the Gardner Fund, the periodicals in the Reading Room, and the number and character of the accessions to the Library during the year.

They also present the annual report of the Treasurer, as required by a vote of the town.

They report a generally prosperous and progressive condition of the Library. In the selection of books, they have been actuated by two purposes : The first is, to supply the citizens with all current literature, excepting such as is worthless in quality or injurious in its tendencies. The second is to add gradually to the Library, volumes of standard literature, and valuable works of reference, with a view to its completeness as a general Library. During the past year many of the English classics, hitherto wanting, have been added to its shelves, among them the "British Essayists," the works of Fielding, Hume, Sterne, Gower, Sheridan, Robertson, Spenser, De Foe, Richardson, G. Herbert and Newman. It has been resolved to subscribe for the new editions of the Encyclopædia Britannica and Appleton's Cyclopædia ; nine volumes of the latter have been received. Littré's French Dictionary has been added to the Library. Eight copies of the valuable History of Brookline, by Miss Woods, have also been purchased. The Trustees have subscribed for Hopkins' series of maps of Suffolk County and vicinity. Many handsome volumes, finely illustrated, have been purchased from the Gardner Fund. Among them may be noted, "Baird's North American Birds," "Marcoy's Travels in South America," "Keller's Amazon and Madeira Rivers," "Maclise's Portrait Gallery," "Lacroix's Military and Religious Life in the Middle Ages," etc. Substantial additions of interesting and rare books of travel have been made.

The experiment of subscribing for a duplicate set of the English and American periodicals, to be taken out and retained two days, has proved a successful one, the citizens having freely made use of this privilege. Such periodicals as have found few or no readers, have been discontinued.

STATISTICS.

A reference to the Librarian's report shows that the number of volumes now in the Library is 17,893, and that the number of accessions during the year has been 1,239 volumes, 390 pamphlets, and 574 unbound periodicals. It may be added that 2,412 names are entered upon our register of regular book borrowers, to whom cards have been issued; a large number, when its proportion to the total population of the town is considered.

THE CATALOGUE.

The Catalogue, of which some account was given in the last annual report, has won notice and praise from every quarter, and we have been in receipt of almost daily letters, from libraries throughout the country, asking information with regard to the details of its cost and execution. It is believed to have been of great aid to the citizens of the town, in supplying a knowledge of the stores upon our shelves; and the number of copies worn out at the desk, indicates its appreciation by the younger portion of the community. With a view of affording every facility to the young, copies of the Catalogue have been placed in each of the public schools, thus enabling the scholars to make selections of books at their leisure.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

The Trustees take special pleasure in referring to the thorough and satisfactory work rendered by the accomplished Librarian, Miss Mary A. Bean, and her two assistants, Misses Amelia A. and Clara A. Woods. The multiplicity of details, and the peculiar nature of the work attending a Library of this size, require, for the proper management of its daily routine, a degree of ability and skill not usually appreciated. In every particular, the Trustees are of opinion that this work has been carefully and conscientiously performed, and they are well aware that whatever success the Library attains is largely due to the competency of those in care of its daily duties.

INCOMPLETE SETS OF SERIALS.

Among the most important contents of the Library, are the sets of volumes of English and American periodicals. But many of these are incomplete, and it is difficult to supply the deficiencies by purchases from the bookstores. Contributions from citizens, therefore, of odd numbers of such periodicals, would be most welcome and desirable. In order that those who may desire to contribute such numbers, may know what volumes of the leading reviews and magazines are wanting to complete the sets, a list of these is given as follows :

The Aldine, Vols. 1, 2, 3. Appleton's Journal, Vols. 1, 2. Army and Navy Journal, Vols. 2, 3, 5, 6, 7. Atlantic Monthly, Vol. 21. Belgravia, Vols. 1-10. Bibliotheca Sacra, Vols. 1-21. Blackwood, Vols. 99, 104. British Quarterly Review, Vols. 1-52. Chambers's Edinburgh Journal, Vols. 1-5, 13. Dublin University Magazine, Vols. 1-74. Edinburgh Review, Vols. 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 75. The Galaxy, Vols. 1-8. Gentleman's Magazine since 1853. Household Words, Vol. 11. Knickerbocker, Vols. 1-25. Lippincott's Magazine, Vols. 1-6. Littell's Living Age, Vols. 56-103. Macmillan's Magazine, Vols. 1-5, 15, 20. Monthly Anthology, Vol. 4. The Nation, Vols. 1-9. Fortnightly Review, Vols. 1-12. N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 16, 18. New Englander, Vols. 1-13, 15, 20. New Jerusalem Magazine, Vols. 1-41. North British Review, Vols. 1-35, 40, 41, 44, 45, 48, 49, 50. Overland Monthly, Vols. 1-3. Quarterly Review, Vol. 60. Popular Science Review, Vol. 5. The Religious Magazine, Vols. 1-44. Saturday Review, Vols. 1-8. Scientific American, First Series, Vols. 1, 2. Second Series, Vols. 16-20. Temple Bar, Vols. 1-4, 18, 23-26. Westminster Review, Vols. 1-10, 44, 47, 53-68, 72-76, 89.

GARDNER FUND.

The income from this fund of $ 10,000, given to the Library by Mr. John L. Gardner, has been expended, as heretofore, in the purchase of many choice and valuable volumes, without which, the Library would lose much of its character and usefulness.

THE OLD ELM.

The widening of Washington street, carried through during the past year, whilst subjecting the Library lawn to the loss of a portion of its extent, has very much improved the appearance of the street itself, and consequently of its surroundings. The Trustees viewed the project with much solicitude, as the existence of our one old Elm seemed threatened by the change of line and grade. Prompted by their own anxiety, as well as by the expressed desire of many old inhabitants, they used every effort to preserve this landmark; and there is reason to hope that it has escaped all harm, and will continue to be, as it has long been, an ornament to the neighborhood.

JANITOR.

Early in the year, it was found absolutely necessary to meet the growing demand for a janitor for the Library building, who should devote his entire time and attention to its care, to preserving order in and around the building, and to the performance of whatever duty the requirements of the Library may demand. Mr. James Healy was accordingly chosen to that office, with a salary of $50 a month. Mr. Healy has also been appointed a special policeman without pay. The results of this movement have been of decided advantage to the Library. The Reading Room is kept quiet and in perfect order; the entire building is clean and neat, and the Trustees feel that the valuable property under their charge is now more safe and secure from accident or loss. Mr. Healy's services have been highly satisfactory and acceptable to the Librarian and her assistants.

NEW READING ROOM.

The Trustees are more than ever impressed with the need, which has before been referred to, of an additional Reading Room on the lower floor of the Library building, which shall be devoted to the use of those persons who desire to consult our full collection of books of reference, and the more costly works on Art, Science, Natural History, etc., which cannot be intrusted to general circulation. Gardner Hall has become attractive by means of the number of reviews and illustrated and other serials displayed upon the table. But the Trustees are convinced that it no longer serves the purpose of those who seek an opportunity for quiet reading and study, which every well-regulated Public Library should afford.

The Trustees are aware that at a time when economy is especially demanded, no unnecessary expenditures should be urged upon the town; but they feel it no more than their duty to call attention to a need which has increased with the growing demands of the reading public.

They are content to leave the whole matter to the intelligent consideration of the citizens, in the confidence that the same spirit of liberality which has created and sustained an institution, now grown to be a model of its kind, will at a fitting time grant the necessary means for an addition which will so greatly add to the measure of its usefulness.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1875.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library :

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith respectfully submit my third annual report as Librarian.

The new by-law of the town, requiring all reports to be returned on or before the 15th of February, cuts short our official year, thereby rendering our statistics in accessions and circulation materially less than they would otherwise have been, and in making comparisons with last year's report, this fact ought to be borne in mind.

The discrepancy will be most noticeable in the record of circulation, since the month of February, which invariably figures as one of the busiest of the year, is necessarily transferred to next year's account.

Notwithstanding this disadvantage in the figures of our report, it is pleasant to state, at the outset, that the year 1874-5 ranks favorably with its immediate predecessors in all that contributes to the growth, usefulness and prosperity of the Library, while in some respects it takes precedence.

Our statistics will show an increase in accessions ; a steady circulation, accompanied with but very slight loss ; the books in good order ; the catalogue in constant service ; the rooms carefully kept ; each department of the Library in a satisfactory condition, and the general work of the year complete to date.

REPORT.

The Trustees present herewith their eighteenth annual report, accompanied by the report of the Librarian, giving a detailed statement of the condition of the Library. Accompanying her report is an appendix, with tables showing the books presented to the Library during the past year, their number and character, and giving a list of works purchased from the Gardner Fund, the periodicals in the Reading Room, and the number and character of the accessions to the Library during the year.

They also present the annual report of the Treasurer, as required by a vote of the town.

They report a generally prosperous and progressive condition of the Library. In the selection of books, they have been actuated by two purposes : The first is, to supply the citizens with all current literature, excepting such as is worthless in quality or injurious in its tendencies. The second is to add gradually to the Library, volumes of standard literature, and valuable works of reference, with a view to its completeness as a general Library. During the past year many of the English classics, hitherto wanting, have been added to its shelves, among them the "British Essayists," the works of Fielding, Hume, Sterne, Gower, Sheridan, Robertson, Spenser, De Foe, Richardson, G. Herbert and Newman. It has been resolved to subscribe for the new editions of the Encyclopædia Britannica and Appleton's Cyclopædia ; nine volumes of the latter have been received. Littré's French Dictionary has been added to the Library. Eight copies of the valuable History of Brookline, by Miss Woods, have also been purchased. The Trustees have subscribed for Hopkins' series of maps of Suffolk County and vicinity. Many handsome volumes, finely illustrated, have been purchased from the Gardner Fund. Among them may be noted, "Baird's North American Birds," "Marcoy's Travels in South America," "Keller's Amazon and Madeira Rivers," "Maclise's Portrait Gallery," "Lacroix's Military and Religious Life in the Middle Ages," etc. Substantial additions of interesting and rare books of travel have been made.

The experiment of subscribing for a duplicate set of the English and American periodicals, to be taken out and retained two days, has proved a successful one, the citizens having freely made use of this privilege. Such periodicals as have found few or no readers, have been discontinued.

STATISTICS.

A reference to the Librarian's report shows that the number of volumes now in the Library is 17,893, and that the number of accessions during the year has been 1,239 volumes, 390 pamphlets, and 574 unbound periodicals. It may be added that 2,412 names are entered upon our register of regular book borrowers, to whom cards have been issued; a large number, when its proportion to the total population of the town is considered.

THE CATALOGUE.

The Catalogue, of which some account was given in the last annual report, has won notice and praise from every quarter, and we have been in receipt of almost daily letters, from libraries throughout the country, asking information with regard to the details of its cost and execution. It is believed to have been of great aid to the citizens of the town, in supplying a knowledge of the stores upon our shelves; and the number of copies worn out at the desk, indicates its appreciation by the younger portion of the community. With a view of affording every facility to the young, copies of the Catalogue have been placed in each of the public schools, thus enabling the scholars to make selections of books at their leisure.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

The Trustees take special pleasure in referring to the thorough and satisfactory work rendered by the accomplished Librarian, Miss Mary A. Bean, and her two assistants, Misses Amelia A. and Clara A. Woods. The multiplicity of details, and the peculiar nature of the work attending a Library of this size, require, for the proper management of its daily routine, a degree of ability and skill not usually appreciated. In every particular, the Trustees are of opinion that this work has been carefully and conscientiously performed, and they are well aware that whatever success the Library attains is largely due to the competency of those in care of its daily duties.

INCOMPLETE SETS OF SERIALS.

Among the most important contents of the Library, are the sets of volumes of English and American periodicals. But many of these are incomplete, and it is difficult to supply the deficiencies by purchases from the bookstores. Contributions from citizens, therefore, of odd numbers of such periodicals, would be most welcome and desirable. In order that those who may desire to contribute such numbers, may know what volumes of the leading reviews and magazines are wanting to complete the sets, a list of these is given as follows :

The Aldine, Vols. 1, 2, 3. Appleton's Journal, Vols. 1, 2. Army and Navy Journal, Vols. 2, 3, 5, 6, 7. Atlantic Monthly, Vol. 21. Belgravia, Vols. 1-10. Bibliotheca Sacra, Vols. 1-21. Blackwood, Vols. 99, 104. British Quarterly Review, Vols. 1-52. Chambers's Edinburgh Journal, Vols. 1-5, 13. Dublin University Magazine, Vols. 1-74. Edinburgh Review, Vols. 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 75. The Galaxy, Vols. 1-8. Gentleman's Magazine since 1853. Household Words, Vol. 11. Knickerbocker, Vols. 1-25. Lippincott's Magazine, Vols. 1-6. Littell's Living Age, Vols. 56-103. Macmillan's Magazine, Vols. 1-5, 15, 20. Monthly Anthology, Vol. 4. The Nation, Vols. 1-9. Fortnightly Review, Vols. 1-12. N. E. Historical and Genealogical Register, Vols. 16, 18. New Englander, Vols. 1-13, 15, 20. New Jerusalem Magazine, Vols. 1-41. North British Review, Vols. 1-35, 40, 41, 44, 45, 48, 49, 50. Overland Monthly, Vols. 1-3. Quarterly Review, Vol. 60. Popular Science Review, Vol. 5. The Religious Magazine, Vols. 1-44. Saturday Review, Vols. 1-8. Scientific American, First Series, Vols. 1, 2. Second Series, Vols. 16-20. Temple Bar, Vols. 1-4, 18, 23-26. Westminster Review, Vols. 1-10, 44, 47, 53-68, 72-76, 89.

GARDNER FUND.

The income from this fund of $ 10,000, given to the Library by Mr. John L. Gardner, has been expended, as heretofore, in the purchase of many choice and valuable volumes, without which, the Library would lose much of its character and usefulness.

THE OLD ELM.

The widening of Washington street, carried through during the past year, whilst subjecting the Library lawn to the loss of a portion of its extent, has very much improved the appearance of the street itself, and consequently of its surroundings. The Trustees viewed the project with much solicitude, as the existence of our one old Elm seemed threatened by the change of line and grade. Prompted by their own anxiety, as well as by the expressed desire of many old inhabitants, they used every effort to preserve this landmark; and there is reason to hope that it has escaped all harm, and will continue to be, as it has long been, an ornament to the neighborhood.

JANITOR.

Early in the year, it was found absolutely necessary to meet the growing demand for a janitor for the Library building, who should devote his entire time and attention to its care, to preserving order in and around the building, and to the performance of whatever duty the requirements of the Library may demand. Mr. James Healy was accordingly chosen to that office, with a salary of $50 a month. Mr. Healy has also been appointed a special policeman without pay. The results of this movement have been of decided advantage to the Library. The Reading Room is kept quiet and in perfect order; the entire building is clean and neat, and the Trustees feel that the valuable property under their charge is now more safe and secure from accident or loss. Mr. Healy's services have been highly satisfactory and acceptable to the Librarian and her assistants.

NEW READING ROOM.

The Trustees are more than ever impressed with the need, which has before been referred to, of an additional Reading Room on the lower floor of the Library building, which shall be devoted to the use of those persons who desire to consult our full collection of books of reference, and the more costly works on Art, Science, Natural History, etc., which cannot be intrusted to general circulation. Gardner Hall has become attractive by means of the number of reviews and illustrated and other serials displayed upon the table. But the Trustees are convinced that it no longer serves the purpose of those who seek an opportunity for quiet reading and study, which every well-regulated Public Library should afford.

The Trustees are aware that at a time when economy is especially demanded, no unnecessary expenditures should be urged upon the town; but they feel it no more than their duty to call attention to a need which has increased with the growing demands of the reading public.

They are content to leave the whole matter to the intelligent consideration of the citizens, in the confidence that the same spirit of liberality which has created and sustained an institution, now grown to be a model of its kind, will at a fitting time grant the necessary means for an addition which will so greatly add to the measure of its usefulness.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1875.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library :

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith respectfully submit my third annual report as Librarian.

The new by-law of the town, requiring all reports to be returned on or before the 15th of February, cuts short our official year, thereby rendering our statistics in accessions and circulation materially less than they would otherwise have been, and in making comparisons with last year's report, this fact ought to be borne in mind.

The discrepancy will be most noticeable in the record of circulation, since the month of February, which invariably figures as one of the busiest of the year, is necessarily transferred to next year's account.

Notwithstanding this disadvantage in the figures of our report, it is pleasant to state, at the outset, that the year 1874-5 ranks favorably with its immediate predecessors in all that contributes to the growth, usefulness and prosperity of the Library, while in some respects it takes precedence.

Our statistics will show an increase in accessions ; a steady circulation, accompanied with but very slight loss ; the books in good order ; the catalogue in constant service ; the rooms carefully kept ; each department of the Library in a satisfactory condition, and the general work of the year complete to date.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

The general condition of the Library is all that can be desired, our figures comparing favorably with former reports. The accessions of the year increase the sum total of volumes belonging to the Library to 17,893; of this number, 16,868 are on the shelves of the Library proper, and in general use, while 1,025 volumes are duplicates withdrawn from circulation and stored in the pamphlet room.

Considering our large circulation, the books are, in the main, well preserved, yet there is greater wear and tear than need be, if borrowers would but exercise the same care with Library books as with their own. We have been compelled to withdraw 67 worn and mutilated volumes, replacing 52 of the number. The remaining 15 volumes, represented on our shelves by other editions or duplicate copies, were not in sufficient demand to warrant their purchase.

Four volumes only have been lost by borrowers, and, in each case, have been immediately replaced at the expense of the loser. Two volumes are missing at the present writing, both of which are charged to persons who have removed from town. One of these volumes will undoubtedly be returned to the Library in response to a notice sent a few days since; the other must be counted as absolutely lost, since no trace of the borrower can be found.

The loss this year, like that of last, occurred among the floating population, where frequent change of residence places book and borrower quite beyond our knowledge and jurisdiction.

With a circulation of nearly 33,000, this record is certainly creditable, and shows the special advantage of our system of delivery, which keeps accurate account of every loan, notifies all delinquents, and, if need be, sends for the book at the cost of the borrower.

ACCESSIONS.

Since the last report there have been added to the Library 1,239 volumes; 919 of these have been purchased, 185 presented, 75 bound from the periodicals of the year, 59 bound from periodicals given by Mr. Storrow and others, and 1 obtained by exchange of duplicates. There have also been given to the Library, 390 pamphlets, and 574 unbound and miscellaneous periodicals.

The liberality of the "town appropriation" has materially advanced the number and value of our purchases, while the continued generosity of individuals has supplemented our accessions with numerous gifts. These sources, combined with the income from the "Gardner Fund," render our list of additions (Appendix D,) especially rich in standard works, as well as attractive in the popular literature of the day.

I might report at length upon the purchases of the year, but will only commend their usefulness and standard value, since the list just mentioned, consulted in connection with Appendix B, tells the whole story and best speaks for itself.

GIFTS.

The larger portion of our accessions is always obtained by purchase, yet no inconsiderable growth is due to the kindness of the many friends, who, from year to year, aid us with donations both numerous and valuable.

We have received gifts from eighty different sources during the past year, and it would be an agreeable feature of this report, were it practicable, to make special mention of each gift.

The simple statistics in regard to accessions by gift, will be found in Appendix A, and I think I may, without prejudice, call attention to some of the larger contributions, such as those of Mrs. Abby Barnett; Mrs. Henry Upham; Mrs. E. P. Salisbury; Messrs. J. J. Storrow; C. A. Henderson, H. B. M. Consul in Boston, and resident in Brookline; Wm. L. Chase; R. M. Lawrence; W. I. Bowditch; Hon. Ginery Twichell; Hon. J. M. S. Williams; Dr. Wm. R. Lawrence and Dr. E. W. Sanford; referring particularly to Mr. Storrow's gift of unbound periodicals because a portion of it has enabled us to nearly complete our set of the Edinburgh Review, supplying twenty-eight volumes (since bound in fourteen) which we have long desired and have endeavored to obtain. Other portions of his gift have added thirty-two volumes of the Christian Examiner, and supplied numerous other deficiencies of odd volumes in the department of serial literature.

I need not say that such gifts have special value to the Library, since it is a self-evident fact; nor, need I add that all gifts find favor and welcome; and we trust that our benefactors will feel that we appreciate their generosity and the extent of our obligations.

CIRCULATION.

The Library has been open for the delivery of books 288 days, and the total number of volumes delivered for home use has been 37,949, an average of 132 volumes per day. The largest weekly issue having been 1,116 volumes, the largest daily issue 302 volumes, the former for the week ending January 30, 1875; the latter, corresponding exactly with last year's report, and occurring twice in this year's record, viz., April 4, 1874 and January 30, 1875.

Beside the delivery of books for home use there have been loaned upon the "hall slips" 1,470 volumes for reading and consultation in Gardner Hall; not to mention the bound volumes of pictorial papers which were called for, over and over again, by the young people, and delivered to them without any record. 2,029 notices have been sent for books kept beyond the specified time, being an average of ten per day. The amount collected from fines is $132.04, a sum which varies but 60 cents from that of the previous year.

We have made no attempt at an accurate classification of the circulation, since its record is not unlike that of all Public Libraries. English fiction, including juvenile books leading the percentage, while travels, biography, history, poetry and the rest follow in the same ratio here as elsewhere, and with but little variation from year to year.

So far as my personal observation goes, I am led to believe that the taste in selection of books is quite up to the average, and is neither a matter of lamentation nor apology. Indeed, I am not sure that I may not justly assert a slight rise above the average, since there is never any demand for the lower grades of fiction.

LIBRARY WORK.

An examination of the foregoing statistics in regard to condition, accessions and circulation will show at a glance the amount of patient, and oftentimes monotonous, labor which must be accomplished, in order to keep the Library up to its standard of efficiency and excellence.

I have so often been met by the question, What can you find to do in the Library? that it may be well to rehearse some of the more important duties devolving upon the librarian and assistants.

In my last report, I took occasion to speak of some of the phases of work in the routine of the circulating department so faithfully accomplished by the assistants. I have but to reiterate my appreciation of their services, and to state among the items of interest in their work for the past year:—the delivery and consequent return of 39,419 volumes for home and library use, which, with the pictorials, involves the handling of nearly 80,000 volumes; the careful registration of each day's doings; the covering and labelling of 6,537 volumes of which but 897 were new books; the care of all books out of repair and subjects for the binder; together with the cutting and special preparation of the periodicals both for the Reading Room and for circulation.

It may not be uninteresting to know the progressive steps in the preparation of a single new book for circulation, and I beg to submit them through this report.

Each book, after its approval by your Board, is first carefully collated, or examined page by page, in order to avoid the possibility of purchasing an imperfect and therefore worthless volume; it is then entered in the "catalogue of accessions," which gives a description of the book and a history of its purchase. The book next goes to the assistants who stamp, cover, label and letter it, and insert the book-plate. Returned to the librarian, it receives its accession number and date of purchase upon the book-plate; its place upon the shelves is assigned; its title properly entered upon the shelf-lists, and the number placed upon the book itself.

The book is then ready to be catalogued. This process consists first, in writing the full title with its various cross-references, for the "card catalogue," which is to be the official catalogue of the Library; second, in abbreviating these titles and references for the "interleaved catalogues" three in number, two for the convenience of the public at the desk, and one for special use in the librarian's room; third, in again writing the principal short titles for the "list of additions" which is to be printed with each annual report; and finally, in posting the title upon the "bulletin boards" in the waiting room.

It will be seen from this enumeration, that each book has two or more entries in eight different lists and catalogues. The catalogue of accessions, shelf-lists, and card catalogue forming the permanent record of the Library, while the rest are solely for the assistance and use of the public at large.

Multiply these processes by the average accessions of one hundred per month, and the product will give a possible insight into what we find to do in regard to the one item of new books. Add to this the librarian's oversight and verification of all bills against the institution, attention to correspondence, reception of visitors in quest of information in behalf of other libraries, and the general supervision of all details, and I am confident that every candid mind will acknowledge that there can be but few idle moments during library hours.

THE READING ROOM.

The Reading Room with its liberal supply of popular and well chosen periodicals, its walls hung with pictures, its pleasant light, and sunny atmosphere ought to become a favorite place of resort for the reading community, and it has been a matter of surprise and regret that its opportunities have been so little known and used.

The lack of interest in this department has been so apparent that we have been led to seek the cause, and to apply the remedy so far as it is in our power.

Perfect quiet is a necessity to the student or general reader, and therefore the chief charm of any room devoted to reading purposes. Unhappily this charm seems to have been well nigh wanting in our otherwise well-appointed Reading Room, partially through a fault in the furniture of the room itself, but chiefly through its close proximity to the waiting room.

I am happy, however, to report that the fault in furniture has been entirely corrected by a judicious application of rubber protectors to the chairs, and the relief thus afforded can best be appreciated by those, who, in former days have struggled to read or even think in the midst of the exasperating clatter caused by the movement of chairs at the mercy of restless and mischief-loving boys.

The noise from the desk and waiting room has been shut off, in a measure, by the closing of the window between the rooms. The Reading Room itself has been placed under the general supervision of the janitor. Every measure seems to have been taken to secure the quiet and comfort of our readers, and I wish I might add that here the matter rested. But there yet remains another disturbing element, for which we are not responsible, and one which may be happily removed whenever the frequenters of the Library rooms will have the kindness to observe the regulations in regard to conversation and quiet deportment.

It is certainly the wish and aim of those in charge of the Library rooms to render them in every way pleasant and attractive, and it is to be hoped that the efforts of the past year in regard to the Reading Room, have but to become known to be duly appreciated.

It would be a source of gratification to see our tables daily and hourly surrounded by readers, and we hope the day is not far distant when such may be the case. I venture to suggest, through this report, to those who most appreciate quiet reading hours, that those of the morning are comparatively free from the juvenile frequenters and consequently best adapted to study or recreative reading.

PERIODICALS.

The total number of periodicals upon the Reading Room tables is 65. A reference to the full list in Appendix C, will show 31 of the number to be monthly publications, 20 weekly, 11 quarterly, 2 daily and 1 semi-monthly. An exhibit which may fairly rival that of any library other than of large cities, and the citizens of Brookline may well be congratulated upon the liberality which gives their Library such superior advantages.

For the most part these serials are supplied from the "town fund," several are gifts, however, among which may be named:—The Athenæum, Illustrated London News, and Public Opinion from Mr. C. A. Henderson; The Independent, from Capt. Candage, Courrier des États-Unis, from Mr. F. S. Fiske; The Magenta, from Mr. Wm. L. Chase; The Unitarian Review, from the American Unitarian Association; The Patent Office Gazette, from the United States Patent Office; and Our Dumb Animals, from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

These generous contributions are highly valued, and our indebtedness is hereby acknowledged with thanks.

During the year a certain number of the more popular magazines have been furnished for home reading; an experiment at first, but rapidly growing in favor as the fact becomes generally known, and therefore to be continued so long as the public demand warrants the expenditure.

The question has been frequently asked, why two days only were allowed to each borrower, but the question solves itself when we reflect that, even at this rate, but fifteen persons per month can make use of any given magazine. Remembering also that, to most readers, the cream of serial literature deteriorates with age, the present adjustment seems the most impartial that can be made.

Eighteen duplicate magazines are thus placed in circulation, the list comprising, at present, the Atlantic Monthly; Belgravia; Chambers's Journal; Cornhill Magazine; Contemporary Review; Fortnightly Review; Galaxy; Harper's Monthly; Lippincott's Magazine; London Society; Macmillan's Magazine; North American Review; Old and New; Our Boys and Girls; Overland; St. Nicholas; Scribner's Magazine and Temple Bar.

This list appears to meet the popular demand, but is subject to revision, and may be augmented or decreased according to the future requirements of the public.

GENERAL FACILITIES.

The catalogue has been freely placed at the disposal of all who make use of the Library, and is, of course, the chief source of information in regard to the contents of the shelves. Its usefulness is unqualified and I believe thoroughly appreciated.

All accessions subsequent to the publication of the catalogue have been kept constantly posted in the interleaved copies, thereby preserving the one alphabetical arrangement intact, and these catalogues are always at the service of the public.

Yet other facilities are offered by the manuscript bulletins in the waiting room, which contain lists of the more recent additions; while the experiment of small hand bulletins containing each month's accessions, has been successfully inaugurated and promises to meet the demand for the newest books.

A printed list of accessions will be appended to this report, which in connection with that of last year will make a complete supplement of all books not in the general catalogue. And I would recommend the preservation and use of these reports in the various households, for the simple convenience that these lists may be to them.

In view of these facilities, as well as of the general advantages of our Library system, it would seem as if nothing had been left undone which could further the interests, usefulness, or success of the Library.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1876.

The Trustees present herewith their nineteenth annual report, together with those of the Librarian and Treasurer.

The number of our citizens taking out books has steadily increased, but we think that others, perhaps, are not sufficiently aware of the opportunities for instruction and recreation that our Public Library affords. To such we would re-state some of its resources and facilities.

The Library is well supplied with works of history, both ancient, modern and political, of biography, of travel and adventure, of science and fiction, essays and reviews, poetry and the drama, agriculture and rural affairs, and natural history — with reading for the young, for the student, the mechanic, the farmer, for the teacher and the pupil, for the business man, the professional man — all our people, men and women, can find something in our Free Public Library to interest, inform or amuse. They have only to go there, and complying with the necessary forms, call for the book wanted, and it is given to them. The Librarian, Miss Bean, is very familiar with the contents and arrangement of the Library, and is competent and ready to assist those looking up special subjects when desired.

The printed catalogue and a list of the monthly accessions are conveniently placed for those who make use of the Library, and there are still a number of copies of the catalogue in the hands of the Librarian to be had at a nominal price, which are very desirable for home consultation.

“Scènes,” Schiller and Goethe, in the original, have been purchased.

PAMPHLETS.

Our pamphlet-room contains a large stock of material, which up to the present time, we have been unable, on account of pressure of other work, to arrange and classify. Most of these pamphlets are worthy of preservation. Many are of considerable value, and some are of especial rarity. During the coming year this department will receive the attention so long necessarily deferred.

A large number of pamphlet-boxes have been ordered from the manufacturer. These are cases made of wood and covered in the semblance of a large volume. The back is made to open and disclose the contents in place, with an index showing the position of each enclosed document, thus once arranged in their proper order every pamphlet will be easily accessible without disturbing the remainder.

The Trustees would urge upon the citizens the importance of preserving for the benefit of the Library the multitude of pamphlets now used for lighting fires or condemned to the waste basket. The selection of valuable matter by the Librarian would be very different from that made at home. A series might often be completed from a pile apparently worthless, and missing links are probably now lying in many a Brookline garret which, valueless where they are, would be of the greatest aid in making up historical files.

DEPARTMENT AND ORDER.

Gardner Hall, the Reading Room, is intended for those who wish a quiet, comfortable place in which to study, or to examine the periodicals. The advantages of such a room are appreciated by many, and the Hall is often filled. Its privileges, however, were so much abused, that the following notice was put up of necessity :

The Reading Room is open to all persons above the age of fourteen years, of respectable character, and of such orderly conduct and condition as not to interfere with the occupations and comfort of others.

In spite of this, the room was still resorted to for merry-making or as a trysting-place, and at times as many as forty or more boys from all parts of the town would take possession and cause such disorder that it became necessary for the janitor to put several out of the building; and even to repeat the process with the same boys. Accordingly the following notice was displayed, which, with the supervision of the janitor, has had an effect:

SPECIAL NOTICE.

All conversation and all disorderly conduct in the Reading Room are strictly prohibited.

Persons violating this regulation will be expelled from the building, and the matter reported to the Board of Trustees.

M. A. BEAN,
Librarian.

DEC. 30, 1875.

In Lawrence, in Dedham, and in Watertown, as appears by the Librarians' reports, the same annoyance has been felt from boys who do not care to read themselves, and whose conduct prevents others from reading. Full freedom of access is of course desirable, but when this defeats the very purpose of the Reading Room it cannot be permitted.

The principal disturbers are known, of course, to the officers in charge, and it is the duty of the Board to give this admonition to parents and guardians, whose aid is desired to secure the necessary quiet of the Reading Room.

VENTILATION.

The want of proper ventilation of the Library having been made the cause of much complaint, the subject was referred to a committee, who, after careful investigation, reported in favor of the introduction of two "Eureka" ventilators, one to be placed in the main hall; the other in the Gardner Hall.

As this style of ventilator has been tried in many of our public schools with complete success, it is thought that this evil of long standing will be thus effectually done away with.

JANITOR.

The second year's experience with Mr. Healy as janitor of the building, has been fully as satisfactory as the first. His training and practice well qualify him for the peculiar duties of his position, and in every way the performance of his work, both in the Library building and adjoining grounds, has shown a degree of fidelity and excellence creditable alike to himself and the town.

LIBRARY WORK.

The manner in which the routine library work has been performed by our able Librarian, Miss Mary A. Bean and her faithful assistants, Miss Amelia A. Woods and Miss Clara L. Woods, is simply excellent.

It is our endeavor to afford every possible facility consistent with the preservation of the Library, to those wishing to borrow or consult the books.

Fresh covers have constantly replaced those soiled by use. Worn volumes have been rebound when possible, and new copies substituted for those already too far gone for further use.

The accession catalogue and the card catalogue, with all the many cross references, have been keeping pace with the numerous additions of books. Several sets of interleaved catalogues are also kept up, and a monthly hand bulletin of new works purchased, has been placed at the desk for public use.

Although the large increase of the Library and augmenting circulation adds daily to the labor, the detail in every department has been conscientiously performed, and the building and its contents are believed to be in the best condition possible.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1875-76.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1876.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN,—The Librarian's report for the official year ending January 31, 1876, is herewith respectfully presented.

The report for 1875-6 covers a full twelve months, while that of last year fell short by the whole of the month of February, thus giving a numerical advantage to the present report, which circumstance should be remembered whenever comparison of statistics is made between the two years.

The general record of the Library is unmarked by any striking occurrence or deviation from the even tenor of its growth and prosperity.

Its statistics exhibit steady and healthful advances in accessions and circulation; unprecedented good fortune in the number of gifts received; successful maintenance and completeness of detail in the work of the several departments; and substantial indications of widespread usefulness and popularity; facts which can but be gratifying to every friend interested in the welfare of the Library.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

A general increase in numbers is always to be expected, and the past year's account shows agreeable results in this respect. The whole number of volumes now belonging to the Library is 19,323; of this number 1,111 volumes are unused duplicates,

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1876.

STATISTICS.

The Librarian's report shows that the additions to the Library during the year have comprised 1,461 volumes, besides 569 pamphlets and 527 unbound periodicals. The total number of volumes in the Library at the end of the year foots up 19,323. The number of regular book borrowers entered on the register, and who hold cards, has increased from 2,412 last year to 2,767 this year. The circulation of books taken from the Library during the year has reached 45,427, while 2,584 books have been consulted in the Reading Room. Thus the total circulation has been 48,011.

GARDNER FUND.

The resources of the Gardner fund have been employed in the careful selection of elegant, useful and standard works, which add an element of permanent value to the Library. As will be seen by reference to the list purchased from the fund, these works are various in character. Some of them are practical and scientific, such as Bicknell's "Wooden and Brick Buildings," Woodward's "National Architect," Eastlake's "History of the Gothic Revival," and Viollet-le-Duc's elegant "Discourses on Architecture." Fifty-one volumes of "Notes and Queries" have been added from this resource; a good pictorial edition of Lossing's "Washington," Rousselet's magnificent work on "India and its Native Princes," and Van Laun's translation of "Molière." Several valuable historical and antiquarian works have also been purchased from this fund.

FRENCH AND GERMAN CLASSICS.

There having been some demand for French and German works of standard reputation and value, the Trustees have thought it best to add a few such works to the shelves of the Library. A careful selection of French and German books which were most likely to suit the purposes of borrowers was made, and as a result the works of Pascal, Madame de Sévigné, Molière, Balzac's “Scènes,” Schiller and Goethe, in the original, have been purchased.

PAMPHLETS.

Our pamphlet-room contains a large stock of material, which up to the present time, we have been unable, on account of pressure of other work, to arrange and classify. LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1875-76.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1876.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN,— The Librarian's report for the official year ending January 31, 1876, is herewith respectfully presented.

The report for 1875-6 covers a full twelve months, while that of last year fell short by the whole of the month of February, thus giving a numerical advantage to the present report, which circumstance should be remembered whenever comparison of statistics is made between the two years.

The general record of the Library is unmarked by any striking occurrence or deviation from the even tenor of its growth and prosperity.

Its statistics exhibit steady and healthful advances in accessions and circulation; unprecedented good fortune in the number of gifts received; successful maintenance and completeness of detail in the work of the several departments; and substantial indications of widespread usefulness and popularity; facts which can but be gratifying to every friend interested in the welfare of the Library.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

A general increase in numbers is always to be expected, and the past year's account shows agreeable results in this respect. The whole number of volumes now belonging to the Library is 19,323; of this number 1,111 volumes are unused duplicates, leaving 18,212 volumes actually on the shelves and in circulation. This accumulation of duplicates, from year to year, is the result not of purchases, but of gifts, 86 volumes having been added in this manner since the last report.

The general condition of the books, by force of withdrawals and renewals, has been kept up to its standard, but it is a matter of regret that every year increases the necessity of reporting careless and oftentimes shameful and deliberate abuse. Of course reasonable allowance for all necessary wear and tear of Library property must be made, yet this does not sanction mud-stained, ink-blotted and mutilated volumes, such as we have been compelled to withdraw within one year; neither does it find excuse for the absurd scribblings and worse than senseless comments which are frequently found upon the fly-leaves and throughout the pages of many of our juvenile books and works of fiction, and which can in nowise be the result of accident.

Neither can anything warrant the tossing of books high in air, to be caught at random, or, perchance, dropped upon wet sidewalks and muddy streets; nor can indulgence be granted for the use of books as weapons of offence and defence, in school-boy struggles, as has been frequently observed upon our streets. In fact, a reckless disregard for propriety and right seems to be rampant, and it is a question whether stringent regulations should not be applied, even to the full rigor of the law, as set forth in the following extract from the Acts and laws of Massachusetts, entitled:

AN ACT FOR THE PRESERVATION OF BOOKS AND OTHER PROPERTY BELONGING TO PUBLIC LIBRARIES.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Whoso wilfully and maliciously, or wantonly and without cause, writes upon, injures, defaces, tears or destroys any book, plate, picture, engraving, or statue, belonging to any law, town, city, or other public library, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the jail, not exceeding six months, for every such offence.

APPROVED February 26 1872.

As evidence that this matter is not overstated, I have to report that 437 volumes have been rebound; and 112 volumes have been condemned and withdrawn, a number nearly double that of last year. 79 of these volumes have already been replaced, 24 volumes have been ordered, and 9 volumes, not of sufficient importance to require replacement, have been entirely discarded.

With 2,767 book borrowers, and a circulation of more than 45,000, our record of losses has somewhat increased. Five volumes are lost beyond recovery, through persons who have removed from town; two others are charged to residents, who have not responded to the frequent notices sent them; and one volume has been stolen from the desk, the only instance of the kind within my knowledge of the Library.

ACCESSIONS.

The accession catalogue shows an addition of 1,461 volumes during the year; 642 of these volumes have been acquired by purchase, 671 by gift, and 148 by the binding of current periodicals.

The total accession in pamphlets is shown at 569, or 562 by gift and 7 by purchase, together with 527 unbound numbers of miscellaneous periodicals.

An examination of the foregoing figures reveals the fact that the gifts from private individuals, many of whom are non-residents, outnumber the purchases, a most unusual circumstance, and one which places us under special obligations, since without these timely contributions, our list of additions (Appendix D) would have fallen below its usual standard in point of numbers.

GIFTS.

In glancing over the reports for the past nineteen years, no fact is more noticeable than that of the constant and generous aid from private sources, and it is a subject of congratulation that no year in our Library history has shown so great a number of gifts as that just closed.

These gifts, consisting of books, pamphlets and periodicals bound and unbound, have been received from ninety-three different sources. The books, with the exception of 86 duplicates, have been placed upon the shelves for general circulation.

Full statistics of accessions by gift will be found in Appendix A, where none can fail to observe striking evidences of liberality on the part of many of our townspeople as well as of friends beyond the limits of Brookline.

Among the more notable donations may be classed those from Rev. C. D. Bradlee, Messrs. William Aspinwall, William L. Chase, F. S. Fiske, C. A. Henderson, H. B. M. Consul, Richard Hills, J. E. Hoar, George F. Homer, William Lawrence, Robert Treat Paine, Hon. J. M. S. Williams, Mrs. R. M. Barnard, Mrs. A. Barnett, Miss G. D. Barrett, Mrs. J. D. Runkle and Miss Frances Stevenson. Also public documents from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, the United States departments at Washington, and the Smithsonian Institution.

Neither must I fail to mention the receipt of two anonymous gifts from "A Friend," numbering in one instance 186 volumes 16 pamphlets, and in another 74 pamphlets and 98 numbers of unbound periodicals; nor the valuable gift of Victor Petit's "Parcs et jardins," "Maisons de campagne," and "Habitations champêtres" from yet another unknown source, an acknowledgment of which is hereby made in lieu of the usual form.

The income of the Gardner Fund, which should be considered in the light of a perpetual gift, has also contributed valuable works to the year's accessions, as will be seen by reference to Appendix B.

Another special indebtedness, which is acknowledged with pleasure, is that due to the several libraries from which reports, bulletins and catalogues have been received: our collection of the latter having been enriched by the reception of copies from the Boston Athenæum Library, Hartford Young Men's Institute, and the Public Libraries of Boston, Cambridge (Dana Library), Concord, Mass., Fall River, Quincy, Somerville, Waltham, Wayland, and the Warren County Library of Illinois.

CIRCULATION.

The Library has been open for the delivery of books 308 days ; the number of cards in use is 2,767, or 355 more than last reported, and the total circulation through the medium of these cards is 42,427, an average of 147 per day.

The largest weekly circulation occurred in the last week of March, 1875, and numbered 1,273 volumes ; the largest daily circulation, March 6, 1875, numbered 343 volumes. These figures exhibit only the delivery of books for home use ; the number of volumes given out for reading and reference in Gardner Hall amounts to 2,584, an increase of 1,114 over the previous year, and swells the total delivery of books recorded at the desk to 48,011.

The demand for pictorial papers continues unabated among the young people and its supply forms no small part of the work of delivery, although no account has yet been attempted.

The amount of fines collected in response to 3,177 notices, is $123.07, a smaller sum than usual, but readily accounted for by the greater promptness in the return of books after notices are received.

LIBRARY WORK.

The details of Library work accomplished are in every respect similar to those of previous reports, save that the labor in every department has increased proportionately with the accessions and circulation.

Occasion was taken last year to particularize and describe the varied duties of Library routine and management, so that the public might obtain a clearer insight into the machinery which, without ostentation, quietly furnishes recreative and instructive reading to whomsoever seeks it. It is therefore unnecessary to specify these details again, except as they exhibit by undeniable figures the amount of manual and mental labor expended in their performance and possibly correct a prevailing conviction that Library work is but one remove from idleness !

The item of circulation for 1875-6 has involved the handling of nearly, or quite, 100,000 volumes, reckoning both delivery and return of every book for home or Library use, together with the pictorials, which, at the least calculation, average twenty per day, a telling record, showing an advance of 20,000 over last year.

The labor of covering and labelling books has, of course, kept pace with circulation and accessions, 7,715 volumes having passed through this process in the skilful hands of the Assistant Librarians, whose statistics in this particular exhibit 29,761 volumes covered within four years.

Nor has the Librarian's special department been less active, nearly 17,000 titles having been entered upon the various official records, catalogues and manuscript bulletins, not to mention an increased correspondence and general supervision of the manifold needs and workings of the Library.

READING ROOM.

The popular use of the Reading Room has been, and still is, steadily increasing, and I am glad to note that it no longer remains vacant by the hour, as in former years, but that a greater or less number of readers may be found within its walls at all hours of the day, evidently enjoying its privileges to the utmost.

A noticeable feature of the year has been the decided increase of adult readers, a welcome change in the right direction, and one that will aid greatly in toning down the turbulent element which prevails among certain of the juvenile frequenters.

The matter of deportment has claimed serious attention of late, and it has been our painful duty to expel several lads for misconduct. It is hoped that this example will serve to establish proper respect for Library authority and deference to its regulations.

It is unjust that the comfort and convenience of adult visitors, should be sacrificed to the rude and mischievous propensities of a few uneasy spirits who haunt the rooms with no better motive than to create disturbance, and unless the evil remains in check under the force of present regulations, new rules of admission, which shall exclude such persons from the privileges of the Library, seem to become a necessity.

PERIODICALS.

The supply of popular magazines and newspapers for the Reading Room is essentially the same as last year, one daily paper, the New York Herald, having been added, and several magazines discontinued.

Appendix C contains a revised list of Reading Room periodicals.

A part of these serials continue to be contributed through the generosity of friends, viz.:

The Athenæum, Illustrated London News and Public Opinion, from Mr. C. A. Henderson ; The Independent, from Capt. R. G. F. Candage ; Courrier des États-Unis, from Mr. F. S. Fiske ; The Crimson, from Mr. William L. Chase ; The Unitarian Review, from the American Unitarian Association ; the Patent Office Gazette, from the United States Patent Office ; Our Dumb Animals, from the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals ; and the Tufts Collegian, from Tufts College.

Several of the duplicate periodicals have also been discontinued, leaving twelve for circulation, and this number seems to meet the present demand, but is still subject to revision.

The revised list comprises, the Atlantic Monthly ; Chambers's Journal ; Cornhill Magazine ; Contemporary Review ; Fortnightly Review ; Galaxy ; Harper's Monthly ; Lippincott's Magazine ; London Society ; North American Review ; St. Nicholas and Scribner's Magazine.

CATALOGUES AND BULLETINS.

The catalogue and bulletins have been in constant demand, aiding the public to the contents of the Library, and no more emphatic commentary upon their usefulness need be cited than their well thumbed and thoroughly worn condition.

The little slate bulletins have proved a marked success, furnishing, as they do, lists of each month's accessions, so that the newest books may be ascertained at a glance. These slates are so useful that their number will undoubtedly be multiplied during the coming year.

The usual list of additions will be printed with this report, making the third supplemental list since the publication of the catalogue. Copies of these lists are to be found in the town reports, from year to year, and I respectfully renew the suggestion of last year that these reports be preserved for home use.

CONCLUSION.

It is the aim of those in charge of the Library to render it useful, attractive and successful, and in every possible way worthy a place in the highest regards of the people.

Thus we complete our nineteenth and enter upon our twentieth year with a long record of past usefulness and prosperity, and a noble history of generous support which has placed us in the foremost ranks of town libraries.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

in ink, and the books made as presentable as might be under the circumstances.

The librarian's report gives the number of volumes thus discarded.

It being evident to the Board that the establishment of some entirely new regulations had now become imperative, it was determined that a system should be at once adopted which would lead to the detection of those wantonly destroying the town's property, and expose them to well merited punishment.

The rule was adopted that every book should hereafter remain in one day before being re-issued and should be during this interval carefully inspected. This procedure has vastly increased the work, and rendered necessary the employment of additional aid. The result has been, however, eminently satisfactory. A number of convictions have been made, and the books are returned in comparatively good condition.

No better method of preserving the library suggests itself than the continuance of this regulation. It is, however, to be regretted that the money which otherwise might be devoted to the increase of the library should be required to repress vandalism in an educated community like this. Fair usage of books, which one would suppose might be reasonably counted upon in Brookline, would be a saving to the library of hundreds of dollars in every year.

READING-ROOM.

The establishment of separate reading tables for the boys and girls, as already stated, has proved in every way a happy arrangement.

The children are enabled to look over the pictorials without feeling that they may be disturbing those who wish to read the periodicals and newspapers, and Gardner Hall is now a comparatively quiet and comfortable place for the perusal of the large and varied amount of serial literature with which the tables are covered.

A more secluded room, where books of reference can be consulted, and scientific study or historical research prosecuted, is the one great want that is more and more clearly indicated each year.

FUNDS.

Many standard and valuable works have been added to the library, during the year, by use of the income of the Gardner fund. Among the most noteworthy may be mentioned Sir Rutherford Alcock's "Art and Industries in Japan," Mrs. Brassey's "Voyage in the Yacht Sunbeam," Curtis's "Homes of American Authors," Capt. Burnaby's "Asia Minor," Gray's "China," Havard's "Picturesque Holland," Hulme's "Familiar Wild Flowers," "New England Historical and Genealogical Register," (thirty volumes,) "Lang's Cypress," Sir F. Palgrave's "Normandy," Timbs's "Curiosities of London," Stanley's "Through the Dark Continent," and Spedding's "Bacon," and a number of standard German works, including Stolberg, Gleim, Herder and Weiland.

The Hall fund has also been the means of adding to the library a number of books of permanent and positive value, including Cook's "House Beautiful," Duyckinck's "Cyclopædia of American Literature," Guizot's "England," Lessing's Works, Robertson's "History of the Christian Church," Smith's "Ancient History of the East," Tyler's "American Literature," Van Laun's "French Revolution," Vapereau's "Dictionnaire Universel," Finlay's "History of Greece," and Green's "History of the English People."

The Trustees would state that there is some doubt whether the income of the Gardner fund, will be wholly available during the coming year. That fund is invested in a first mortgage on a house owned by the late Arthur Cheney, whose estate is not yet settled. It is not unlikely that difficulty and delay in transferring the investment to some other security may involve the loss of a portion, at least, of the year's income of the fund.

STATISTICS.

The total number of volumes now in the library is 22,925, and of this number 1,540 have been added during the past year.

The circulation for the year has reached 47,295 volumes, of which 44,736 volumes have been for home use. Some 2,559 volumes have also been consulted for reference.

The Board take pleasure in commending the faithful service of the librarian and her assistants. Although the service required of them during the year has been more arduous than in any former year, it has been performed energetically and efficiently, and to the satisfaction of the Trustees.

The Trustees request, as in former reports, the co-operation of the citizens in making the library more and more valuable and practically useful, and to this end request that any one who observes any deficiency in the library, either in books, periodicals, or the method of performing the library service, will communicate his suggestions to the Board, who will give all such suggestions due attention.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees herewith present their twentieth annual report.

Beginning in 1857 with nine hundred volumes, in twelve years the library was moved to the new building with eleven thousand volumes, and now at the end of the second decade it numbers upon its shelves over twenty thousand books.

The standard of the library has been steadily going higher and higher and whilst all classes of books are constantly added to meet the popular demand, more of high cost are now purchased than during the earlier years. The endeavor has been to satisfy the needs or desires of all ages and various minds.

One of our most eminent librarians tells us that :

“A public library to be well selected must have all the variety needed by all the variety of people who frequent it. It must aim to amuse as well as to instruct. It must be remembered that a large proportion of the readers of a general community need books for recreation as much as for edification. It is not reasonable—it is not wise—to expect that the weary artisan will, in most cases, give his winter evenings to study. He yearns for the life and manners which he is not used to, and is not critical according to a standard that has your respect. Some of the most persistent novel readers I know are learned judges and doctors of divinity.

The hostler of the tavern stable sits between his labors in the breezy avenue of the open doors, and though he may look upon the inland mountain without, he pictures rather the Spanish Main in the sea stories of Marryat.

It is as legitimate a function of the public library to afford this gratification as it is for the schools to begin the education of life by providing blocks to build houses with, or clay to mould rabbits out of.

Grown-up people cannot all be antiquaries, or mathematicians, or Darwinians, or financiers.”

These ideas are completely the ideas of your Trustees, and the policy for years has been to shape the library for the fulfilment of such a purpose as is here indicated.

It is a pleasure to the Trustees to announce that the books, and all of the property under the control of the Board are in excellent condition and well cared for by those to whom the duty is committed.

The number of books given out during the last year is over 48,000, which is about seven volumes to every man, woman or child in the town. The number would probably have been considerably larger had it not been for the distraction of the presidential election.

The Trustees confidently believe that the liberal appropriations which the town has voted year by year for the building up of this institution have been judiciously expended, and that the anticipations of the public-spirited founders have, through these ample means, been far more than realized.

Numerous letters from far and near for information with regard to catalogue work and library management are constantly received and the information thus obtained has already enabled a number of town libraries to establish our rules and regulations for their own government and to introduce our system of delivery. We have thus the pleasure of knowing that ours is regarded as a model town library by the country as well as by ourselves.

Whilst our success is, perhaps, principally due to the very efficient manner in which the administration is carried on by our pains-taking librarian, Miss Bean, and her assiduous assistants, the Misses Woods, it is only fair to say, that it is also greatly owing to the large-minded treatment accorded by the town to the Board of Trustees, and to the independent action which has almost invariably been allowed.

The Trustees believe that this mark of public confidence has been fully appreciated and they hope it will not be found to have been misplaced.

The bequest of five thousand dollars made to the library by the late Martin L. Hall, has been received. By the terms of the bequest the income is to be appropriated for the purchase of standard works. This is an opportune addition to the means of the library, and will enable the Trustees to purchase books which have been needed, but which they have not heretofore felt at liberty to procure with the funds appropriated by the town, or from the Gardner fund.

Among the departments of the library which have been hitherto deficient, have been those relating to local histories, and to the early history of New England. The books which make up these departments are in the main scarce, consisting generally of books of which but limited editions were published, frequently by societies for the use of their own members, and now out of print. As a consequence these books are quite often high-priced. Yet scarce and valuable as many of these books are, a library such as ours should be, ought to contain at least a fair representation of them. The Trustees with the additional means at their disposal from the Hall legacy have felt like making a beginning in this field. The town histories of many Massachusetts towns have been purchased, and it is hoped that the departments of the library referred to will soon be tolerably full.

The need of a consulting room is much felt. There is now no place in which a person who desires to consult a number of books and to take notes from them, can conveniently do so. In some town libraries, and notably in the Peabody Library, this want has been filled by setting apart a room exclusively for this use, and supplying it with suitable desks, and with pens, ink and paper. But the present requirements for the ordinary uses of the library will not permit us to appropriate any portion of our building for this purpose.

It is an object with the Trustees to make the library not only a good circulating library for lighter literature, but also one which will be found useful to students or any one who desires to make somewhat exhaustive researches upon any topic. Very much has already been done to this end, but, of course, much remains to be done. Still the Trustees believe that the library may be profitably used for this purpose by our citizens, much more extensively than it has been. It is believed that scarcely any department will be found not tolerably well provided with books, and many are full enough for all demands likely to be made. In particular the departments of American and English history, biography, geography and travels, art and architecture, are in a good condition.

The Trustees will take pleasure in aiding any one who wishes to make a study of any topic, by suggestions as to the books desirable to consult, or by giving him such opportunities for consultation as can be done without interfering with the ordinary work of the library.

It is hoped that citizens will so far second the efforts of the Trustees to improve the library as to communicate any deficiency which seems to exist in it, either in the method of conducting it, or in the books which it contains. While, of course, it would not be well to purchase all books which any one may ask for, yet the suggestion of names of books not to be found in the library will materially assist the Trustees in supplying the needs of citizens, and is likely to bring to their attention valuable books which might otherwise have escaped their notice.

The Trustees have resolved upon communicating to citizens each month, the names of the books added to the library during the month preceding, by means of a bulletin. The first number containing the additions for the month of January, is now ready for delivery at the library. A sufficient number of the bulletin will be printed to furnish a copy to all who may desire it. It has been thought best to charge a small sum for the bulletin, as is done by the Boston Public Library, and the price has been fixed at two cents each.

The attention of the Trustees has frequently been called to instances of misuse and of abuse of the books by borrowers. The writing of notes and comments in books, and the turning down of leaves to serve as book-marks are the most familiar examples of this, but it is quite as reprehensible as abuse by careless handling. It is difficult to detect particular offenders, but in some instances the extent of the injury to books is so great as to clearly make it the duty of the officers of the library to prosecute the offenders if their names could be ascertained. It is hoped that these things happen commonly from nothing worse than thoughtlessness, and that this calling of attention to the fact will tend to reform in this particular.

The following report of the librarian gives in full the interesting statistics for the past twelve months, and this in connection with the statement of the Treasurer will tell the whole story of the twentieth year of the Brookline Public Library.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1876-77.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1877.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library :

GENTLEMEN,— I herewith respectfully submit my fifth annual report as Librarian, giving a record of the work, statistics and general condition of the library for the official year ending January 31, 1877.

A review of the year shows it to have been an uneventful one in library matters, exhibiting no specialty in any department, but rather a steady maintenance of our standard in growth and usefulness, with such advances in statistics as clearly indicate both activity and progress.

The growth of the library does not reach the numerical point of last year, but in the standard value of its accessions, more especially by purchase, the year 1876-7 undoubtedly takes precedence, as will be readily seen upon glancing over the list of the Gardner fund purchases, appended to this report.

Continued evidences of kindly interest in the growth of the library are manifest in the many gifts which have contributed to the number and value of our accessions, and it is a pleasure to acknowledge, with thanks, our obligations for all such remembrances.

The resources and facilities for usefulness increase with every year, and I wish I might add that the demand upon these resources fully equalled the supply, but casual observation cannot fail to discover the fact that the treasures of thought and information within the library are in nowise used to their full extent.

This statement is not intended to reflect upon the reading public, but is prompted by a feeling of regret that the means of self-culture and liberal education, which the library freely proffers through its carefully selected books, should be in so great a measure unsought; and it is further prompted by the hope that in thus directing attention to the subject, a new interest in the really valuable possessions of the library may be awakened.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

At the date of the last report the library numbered 19,323 volumes. The present report brings the total to 20,282. Of these volumes 19,126 are in general use, the remaining 1,156 volumes are duplicates in the pamphlet room. The increase in duplicates has been entirely by gift, and numbers but 45 volumes. To prevent any misunderstanding it may be well to state here that the duplicates are not entered upon the printed list of accessions for the year, because they are not for general use.

In view of a circulation of nearly 46,000 volumes the books of the library are in very good condition, certainly there has been no retrograde movement as reported last year, and it is a matter of congratulation that a less number of volumes have been withdrawn by reason of misuse, although the number is far greater than need be. 99 volumes, chiefly books of fiction, have been condemned, 62 of them have been replaced and the remainder have been ordered and will soon be in circulation. The number of books rebound, has also been materially reduced, only 254 volumes being recorded against 437 volumes in the last report and it is to be hoped that even better things may be reported another year.

Another encouraging feature, worthy of mention, is the fact that not a single volume has been lost beyond recovery, although several books have been injured and mislaid by borrowers, but in every instance the fact has been promptly reported at the desk and such injury or loss made good.

It is a source of gratification to report this improved state of affairs, yet so much of this evil remains that I cannot refrain from entering another protest against the careless and wilful misuse of books which has come under my own observation during the past year.

ACCESSIONS.

The library has gained 698 volumes by purchase, 232 volumes by gift and 29 volumes bound from the current periodicals, making a total accession of 959 volumes.

The addition of pamphlets amounts to 345, all but 3 being gifts, 234 unbound numbers of miscellaneous magazines have also been given, together with files of newspapers, and 2 maps.

The purchases of the year are especially rich in standard works, making up in quality what is lacking in quantity, and the list of accessions, [Appendix D] presents an attractive array of the popular books of the year.

Two works among these purchases have had such a remarkable circulation as to be worthy of note; these are the lives of Lord Macaulay, and of George Ticknor. The library is supplied with two copies of each work, and yet it has been impossible to find two volumes in at the same time, or, any one volume of either set upon the shelves for more than half an hour since their purchase.

I would like to call attention to other of the more valuable accessions, commending them to the public, but I trust that a careful examination of the list of Gardner Fund books [Appendix B] will reveal, to those interested, the worth of the collection, without further words of mine.

A large proportion of these works were ordered directly from England, and not a few of them arrived too late to be catalogued for Appendix D, but a list will be prepared for the next bulletin which will be ready in March.

Gifts have been contributed from 89 different sources, adding to the permanent value of the library. The statistics in regard to gifts will be found in Appendix A, where many of the names of former benefactors again occur.

CIRCULATION.

The library has been open 309 days, and 45,619 volumes have been delivered during that time, an average of 148 per day. The number of borrowers has largely increased during the year, rising from 2,767 to 4,054, a gain of 1,287, this may seem remarkable, but it is nevertheless true.

The largest weekly delivery, from January 15th to January 20th, numbered 1,226 volumes, a slight decrease from last year's account; while the largest daily issue March 18th, leads by 21, making 364 volumes for the present report.

These figures represent only the circulation of books for home use, to these must be added 2,591 volumes delivered for reference in the reading room, making a total circulation of 48,210 volumes recorded at the desk.

In consideration of the increased number of cards in use, one might have looked for a proportionate increase in circulation, and such would undoubtedly have been the case had not the fascinations of the presidential campaign drawn away from their accustomed recreation the Young American element of the community.

The opening week of the new year shows an unusual delivery of over 200 volumes per day for four days in succession, closing with 312 volumes on Saturday.

Notices have been sent to 2,904 persons for the detention of books, and fines to the amount of $122.66 collected.

LIBRARY ROUTINE.

It is quite impossible to vary the report on the routine work of the library, since it remains substantially the same from year to year.

Former reports have given the details of such work, and it only remains for me to say that each department has duly received its share of care and attention, and the general work of the year is complete. The statistics of condition, accessions and circulation clearly exhibit this fact.

READING ROOM AND PERIODICALS.

The use of the reading room continues undiminished, and it is, indeed, evidently growing in favor since it oftentimes occurs that every chair is occupied, especially during the afternoons and evenings, an unheard of fact two years, or even one year ago.

It gives me no little pleasure to be able to report that the department there maintained is far better than that of last year, although there is yet room for great improvement.

The great need of a room for quiet reading and study is daily felt to be increasing and it is hoped that the time is not far distant when such convenient addition may be made without great expense.

The supply of magazines, reviews and newspapers remains essentially the same as at our last report. Appendix C affording a revised list of the periodicals for 1876-7. A portion of this list continues to be furnished through the kindness of friends.

It is proposed to discontinue the duplicate numbers of the Cornhill magazine and London Society, and to substitute Appleton's Journal which has recently become a monthly publication.

CATALOGUES AND BULLETINS.

The catalogues and annual lists of the library continue to serve their purpose to such an extent that, both interleaved copies of the catalogue belonging to the desk have become literally worn out and have been withdrawn. Two others are needed immediately, but the work of posting is so great that special service is required on them.

The hand bulletins, containing the newest books, are exceedingly useful at the desk, but of course cannot be made available for home use, therefore the experiment of printing bulletins of each month's accessions is already inaugurated, those for January being now ready and for sale at the desk.

The fourth annual list also appears with this report, copies of which are in each town report, and I again renew the suggestion of previous years, that these reports be made to serve for home use.

Among the facilities for obtaining books may be mentioned a copy of the "Catalogue notes on English history" issued by the Boston Public Library, an exceedingly useful guide to any one desiring a course of reading in English history. These notes have been bound in a convenient form, with our own catalogue numbers inserted, so that they may be consulted readily in reference to our own library.

The book will be placed in the librarian's room but may be consulted at the desk upon application.

If with these various aids to the contents of the library, there are those at loss to find special information upon any topic, your librarian will gladly render personal attention and assistance to every such case, whenever application is made to her, considering it a pleasure as well as a duty to help the public to a better understanding of the resources of our library.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees herewith present their twenty-first annual report, together with those of the librarian and the treasurer. That the library grows steadily in the appreciation of our citizens is demonstrated by the increasing circulation of books with every year of its existence.

It is believed that the additions made to the library are equal in character to those of any former year. In the purchase of books it has been the object of the Trustees to consult the tastes of all portions of the community, and, by the acquisition of books of permanent value and standard character, to increase the facilities of the library for the use of students, or those making researches in any department. While the Board have not purchased all the new books of the year, they believe that they have added to the library the most of those of real value. If, in the opinion of any citizen, any omission has been made, the Board will feel grateful to have such omission brought to their notice for consideration. The Board also request, that any person who fails to find in the library any book which he may call for, will bring the attention of the Board to such book.

FUNDS.

The income of the Gardner fund has been very usefully employed in the purchase of valuable books, among which are the following:

Adams' Mediterranean, Cesnola's Cyprus, Dyer's Modern Europe, Edwards' Nile, Furness' Shakespeare, Grant's Newspaper Press, the publications of the Hakluyt Society, Jewitt's Stately Homes of England, Nichols' Art Education, Poor's Money, Prime's Pottery, Schliemann's Mycenæ, Thomas' Printing, and Yule's Marco Polo.

Among the standard books purchased with the income of the Hall fund, may be especially mentioned, Latham's Johnson's Dictionary, Knight's Mechanical Dictionary, Hibberd's Beautiful leaved Plants, and Steinmetz's Jesuits.

STATISTICS.

The total number of volumes now in the library is 21,416, and of this number 1,134 have been added during the past year.

The circulation for the year has amounted to 53,425 volumes, the unusual number of 50,427 being for home use. 2,998 volumes have also been consulted for reference.

MUTILATION OF BOOKS.

The American Library Journal says :

“Public Libraries are subject to depredations of this kind to a degree that renders a ceaseless diligence necessary for its prevention. It has been found that the purloining of books, either directly or indirectly, can be controlled to an extent which has reduced the loss in the best regulated institutions to one-tenth of one per cent. of issues. The evil practices shown in tearing, defacing, and marking books are far more serious on account of the much greater difficulty of detecting the offender, the books passing through so many hands.”

To the Brookline library the wilful and deliberate ruining of books has become a matter of the gravest consideration. It is certainly bad enough that children should rub their pencils over the pages of the story-books, deface the pictures, and cover the fly-leaves with nonsensical and frequently indecent composition ; and it should subject them to the most prompt punishment upon discovery.

The loss in these cases, however, is not so great, since this class of books wear out pretty fast at best, and the cost of replacing them is not large. But no expression can too strongly condemn the practice of many young men and women who habitually write their silly comments upon the margins of works of biography, travel and fiction, who cut out extracts and illustrations that they may fancy, and who even remove whole pages if it suits their requirements to do so.

In several such instances the Board have been enabled to trace the culprits and have obliged them to replace the books by new copies hoping that such leniency would be appreciated. But it is daily becoming evident that nothing short of, at least, heavy fines will cure the growing evil. Henceforth, the statute will be rigidly enforced.

That other libraries meet with a similar experience is shown by the following cases, quoted from the American Library Journal :

“ In one of our Public Libraries a young woman of eighteen, who had marked the margins of ‘ Middlemarch ’ with gushing effusions, was made to read the Statute of the Commonwealth, which provides fine and imprisonment, with tearful effect, and is no doubt a better member of society to-day.

A library in Boston recently caused a fine of $20 to be imposed upon a student in one of our colleges, for tearing out a score of leaves for ‘ ponying ’ purposes from an English translation of Cicero; and a placard giving the name and residence of the offender, with the nature of the offence and punishment, was printed and posted on the walls of the Library.”

The Board sincerely hope such condign punishment may be avoided in Brookline; the same offence, however, has occurred here, and the highest penalty that the law prescribes is not too great for such villany. In this connection we would most earnestly caution all persons against the pernicious habit of turning down leaves to mark places. Many of our costly books have been in this way greatly injured, and the annual depreciation of the library from this practice has become a serious matter. We hope that we can count upon the co-operation of the citizens in our efforts to preserve our library.

We hope that we can count upon the co-operation of the citizens in our efforts to preserve our library.

THE READING-ROOM.

The reading-room evidently grows in popularity, and the large collection of home and foreign periodicals, newspapers and pictorials attracts numbers of visitors, especially during the afternoons and evenings. Few town libraries expend so much upon this class of literature as our own, and the Board are glad to note the constant increase of readers. Most, if not all, public libraries restrict the use of the reading-room to persons above the age of fourteen, but the policy of this Board has always been to give to every decent and well-conducted child, without regard to age, all the facilities for amusement or instruction which the library can afford, in the belief that the wear and tear resulting from fair handling of magazines is fully offset by the pleasure and improvement derived from their persual.

Children are, however, restless and excitable, and their emotions are often beyond their control; the result is a ceaseless hum throughout the room, which renders attentive reading or study impossible. The Board have therefore caused tables and chairs to be placed at the westerly end of the open hall, and the juveniles will henceforth be allowed to take the pictorials and magazines there for inspection. The Board hope that this new arrangement will be mutually agreeable to them and to those persons of more advanced years, to whom the use of a quiet room for reading is a necessity.

APPROPRIATION.

An appropriation of $4,000 is recommended for the present year. Nearly five years have elapsed since the printing of the catalogue. The desirability of a supplementary catalogue is manifest to the Board. Should the town approve the prosecution of this work during the present year, an additional appropriation of $1,000 would be necessary.

CONCLUSION.

The library work has been performed as usual, with efficiency and fidelity by the librarian and her assistants. The Trustees aim to afford the use of the library, and to extend its benefits to the largest possible number of citizens and residents of the town; and to make its privileges as liberal as its preservation and systematic order will permit. The largely increased circulation of books during the past year encourages the Trustees in the hope that our really excellent library is advancing in both its recreative and its educational value.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1877-78.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1878.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith respectfully present my sixth annual report, containing a general record of the library and its work, for the official year ending January 31, 1878.

In gathering and arranging the material upon which the report is based, one cannot but note the fact that while there are no remarkable occurrences to mark the library year, there are pleasing evidences of unabated progress and prosperity, both in its history and statistics, affording abundant cause for congratulation. It is a source of genuine pleasure to be able to state that, owing to the undiminished liberality of the town appropriation, the library has not lost ground during a time of general business depression, but has been enabled to maintain its standard, to extend its usefulness, and to meet increased demands upon its resources.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

At this date the library contains 21,416 volumes, including unused duplicates, against 20,282 reported last year. The duplicates have only increased 24 volumes by gift and 4 volumes by withdrawal from the book shelves, making the present number in the pamphlet room 1,184, and leaving 20,332 volumes in the library for circulation and reference.

The constant use of the works of fiction manifests itself in worn-out and condemned books to the number of 123 volumes,

Of these 4 have been permanently withdrawn, 64 have been replaced, and the remainder have been ordered and will be received in a few days.

In order to keep the books in presentable condition for circulation, 6,073 volumes have been re-covered and re-labelled by the assistant librarians, and the bookbinder's schedules show 324 volumes rebound and repaired.

ABUSE OF BOOKS.

Due allowance being made for unavoidable wear and tear, incident to a circulation of more than 53,000, the general condition of the larger portion of books is up to the usual standard; but I regret to report that the special condition of the books of fiction reflects discredit upon a large class of the book borrowers of the community.

It is a lamentable fact, that scarcely a book upon the shelves of the popular departments is free from writing in one form or another, including marginal notes, shopping memoranda, orders for grocers or provision dealers, solutions of mathematical problems, doggerel and slang.

Nearly every volume of Harper's Weekly is badly marked, thumbled and torn beyond repair, and the volumes of Punch are following rapidly in the same fashion. Illustrations are torn from books and magazines, and even the walls of the reading-room have been defaced by the worst of scribblings in defiance of all rule or right.

It is a difficult matter for librarian or assistants, with their utmost vigilance to prevent this lawlessness which skilfully evades detection and justice, hence only three cases of this kind have been successfully traced, proved and punished during the year.

The query naturally arises, where lies the responsibility, and the remedy? A certain clause in the regulations declares that: "The librarian shall be responsible for the due care and keeping of all the books and other public property in the library;" but one endowed with the hands of Briareus and eyes of Argus, would not begin to meet the requirement as long as many book borrowers remain devoid of conscience, or shirk their responsibility in the matter. Therefore your librarian is disposed to divide such a heavy burden and to place the greater share, where it justly belongs, upon each individual borrower.

Undoubtedly much of the injury to the books is done by the thoughtless and the young, but I am puritanical enough in my notions of right and wrong to consider such thoughtlessness and want of discipline inexcusable. Since it is a growing and not a lessening evil of which I speak, and one more easily reached and controlled in the home than in the library, would it not be well to appeal to the heads of households to instruct their various members in regard to the care and use of books, and to call attention to our regulations for such use?

Many of the community do not seem to comprehend that writing of any kind upon library books is an offence against the laws of the commonwealth, punishable by fine or imprisonment, notwithstanding the notices to that effect which are posted within the library rooms and upon the public catalogues at the desk; and in spite of the fact that attention has been specially directed to this law through the annual reports. Perhaps no better way to quicken comprehension can be devised than an example or two of the application and enforcement of this law by criminal complaint.

ACCESSIONS.

The catalogue of accessions registers 1,134 volumes added to the library since the last report: namely, 770 volumes purchased, 172 volumes given, 150 volumes bound from the current periodicals and 42 volumes by exchange of duplicates.

In addition to the books, 261 pamphlets have been received together with 321 unbound numbers of various magazines. Only three of the pamphlets were purchased.

The books purchased during the year are exceptionally valuable, having been selected with judicious care, and with a view to increase the excellence of an already standard collection.

The special list of books purchased from the incomes of the Gardner and Hall funds (Appendixes B and C respectively) will enumerate some of the choicer accessions of the year.

Every year brings renewed evidence of kindly interest and remembrance from friends far and near, to which the past year proves no exception, and the library has had occasion to acknowledge gifts from more sources than usual, although the number of volumes falls short of past records.

If the limits of this report would permit it would be an agreeable task to specify each gift in turn, but the customary reference to the list of donors (Appendix A) must suffice, except in case of one or two notable examples like that of the Historical Magazine in eleven volumes (and three more to come) "presented anonymously" through Mr. Henry B. Dawson the publisher; and the gift of public documents and reports (60 volumes) from the commonwealth, through the kindness of Mr. E. I. Thomas.

It has not been customary for the Brookline library to keep yearly statistics of classification since such are matters of curiosity rather than of material value, but in arranging the present report for publication, it was ascertained by actual count that in the four most popular departments of reading the accessions stood as follows: Fiction 142 volumes, History 128 volumes, Travels 121 volumes, and Biography 67 volumes. Every other department has received greater or less addition according to its relative demands.

CIRCULATION.

The circulation of the year has taken an unusually long stride forward, which may perhaps be partially accounted for, by the fact that many of the unemployed mechanics and laborers, have found it more profitable to read library books than to frequent street corner rendezvous, and their choice is to be heartily commended; while the town may be congratulated that it possesses such a helpful and safe asylum for hands and brains that might, through forced idleness and discouragement, be led to harm.

The library has delivered 50,427 volumes for home use and 2,998 volumes for reference, making a total of 53,425, or, an average of 175 per day for the 306 days of the year upon which it has been open. Furthermore this circulation has been maintained without the loss of a single volume.

The busiest week of the year was that ending March 24th, during which time 1,342 volumes were delivered. The busiest day also occurred in the same month, showing on the 11th a record of 387 volumes. This number was very nearly reached twice during the present winter, namely,—379 volumes on January 12th, and again 381 volumes on January 26th.

This circulation has involved the sending of 3,186 notices for the detention of books, and the receipt of $136.38 in fines.

LIBRARY WORK.

The increased business of the library necessitates a corresponding degree of activity and a large amount of additional labor on the part of those in charge, yet I am happy to report that none of the work of the year is in arrears.

The duties of the assistants have increased at the desk in proportion to the circulation, involving the charge and discharge of over 5,000 more volumes, equivalent in the handling to nearly 10,500 more than last year. 7,207 volumes have also been covered and labelled by them, only 1,134 being from the accessions. 591 volumes have passed through their hands to the binder, the schedules numbering 117 new books and 150 periodicals newly bound, and 324 books rebound and repaired.

In addition to the more prominent items of regular routine mentioned above, extra work has been accomplished in the way of a thorough examination of the library, which took place last spring in accordance with instructions from the Library Committee, the result having been communicated in my report to your Board at that time.

This examination was successfully conducted without calling in the books, and it is doubtful if any outside the library management were aware of its progress.

The rooms of the library have been carefully kept in excellent order, and constant war upon dust and dirt has been maintained throughout the year with brush and sponge, attaining thereby the happy result of freedom from these natural enemies of library economy.

READING-ROOM AND PERIODICALS.

The reading-room begins to show signs of limited capacity, the number of occupants frequently outnumbering the chairs, sometimes nearly two to one. The room seems to have become monopolized by interested juveniles who cluster about the tables like bees about a hive, equally restless, and quite as proficient in the art of buzzing!

Although this appreciation of the reading-room is commendable, it is not quite certain that it justifies the exclusion of that class of persons who would thoroughly enjoy the literature of our serials could they but find room and quiet for its perusal.

It is a question whether the pursuits of such readers should be compelled to give way so entirely to mere picture-gazing as a juvenile amusement; and whether boys should have the use of the room to the exclusion of adults, as is often the case in the present condition of affairs.

The usual supply of English and American reviews, magazines and weeklies may be found, together with local and daily newspapers. Several additions have been made, among which may be named the Daily Advertiser, American Architect, Nineteenth Century, British Quarterly Review, Pall Mall Budget, Spectator, London Times (weekly), and the Revue des Deux Mondes.

Appendix D gives the list of periodicals, corrected and revised for 1877-8.

The list of duplicate periodicals for home use remains unchanged and seems to meet the present demand.

CATALOGUES AND BULLETINS.

In November last I took occasion to call the attention of the Trustees to the present facilities of our desk catalogues, and to the difficulty of maintaining full interleaved copies in sufficient numbers to meet the general need.

It has been my endeavor to keep two copies of this catalogue continually posted for general use, but my best efforts have been defeated by the careless abuse to which these volumes are subjected.

The original copies of the interleaved catalogues, which with ordinary care should have lasted five years, became entirely unfit for use long since, and the one copy substituted during the present year, and guarded with special care, already shows signs of hard usage. This copy, with the four annual lists and this year's bulletins, constitutes the only means accessible to the public for finding the present contents of the library. Of course the ulterior remedy will be a printed supplement to the general catalogue of 1873.

In order to meet the present emergency, in a measure, it has been proposed to combine the four annual lists and the bulletins, representing nearly 6,000 author titles, into one alphabetical series, by means of cutting and pasting, thus giving a very fair printed slip catalogue of authors. The work upon this list will be undertaken very shortly, and will afford some assistance to readers until a thorough supplement can be published.

The printed bulletins of each month's accessions, have proved exceedingly useful and have met with general approbation, although the sales for home use have been very light, not enough in the whole year to pay the expense of one month's printing.

The fifth annual list of accessions accompanies this report and will I trust commend itself to every one who cares to examine it, and also be made more or less useful in every household.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees present this, their twenty-second annual report, and the reports of the librarian and the treasurer of the Board.

The library is in a more satisfactory condition than for some years before. The circulation is as large as ever, and it is believed by the Board that its usefulness has been undiminished during the past year, notwithstanding that it was necessarily closed during some weeks for the purpose of making the special examination. The experiment of furnishing accommodation for the younger frequenters of the library in the outer hall, where they might conveniently use the illustrated newspapers and magazines, and thus leave Gardner Hall for the use of older readers, appears to have resulted well and to have added to the comfort of both classes.

PRESERVATION OF BOOKS.

The mutilation of books, an evil referred to at some length in the last annual report, continued to increase, until it became necessary to close the building for nearly eight weeks, to the end that each book might be carefully examined, page by page, and thoroughly cleansed.

This was accomplished by the expenditure of great labor and considerable money. Many volumes were found to be so badly defaced that no pains could render them fit for further circulation, and they were necessarily replaced by new ones. In others, scribblings were erased when in pencil, noted when in ink, and the books made as presentable as might be under the circumstances.

The librarian's report gives the number of volumes thus discarded.

It being evident to the Board that the establishment of some entirely new regulations had now become imperative, it was determined that a system should be at once adopted which would lead to the detection of those wantonly destroying the town's property, and expose them to well merited punishment.

The rule was adopted that every book should hereafter remain in one day before being re-issued and should be during this interval carefully inspected. This procedure has vastly increased the work, and rendered necessary the employment of additional aid. The result has been, however, eminently satisfactory. A number of convictions have been made, and the books are returned in comparatively good condition.

No better method of preserving the library suggests itself than the continuance of this regulation. It is, however, to be regretted that the money which otherwise might be devoted to the increase of the library should be required to repress vandalism in an educated community like this. Fair usage of books, which one would suppose might be reasonably counted upon in Brookline, would be a saving to the library of hundreds of dollars in every year.

READING-ROOM.

The establishment of separate reading tables for the boys and girls, as already stated, has proved in every way a happy arrangement.

The children are enabled to look over the pictorials without feeling that they may be disturbing those who wish to read the periodicals and newspapers, and Gardner Hall is now a comparatively quiet and comfortable place for the perusal of the large and varied amount of serial literature with which the tables are covered.

A more secluded room, where books of reference can be consulted, and scientific study or historical research prosecuted, is the one great want that is more and more clearly indicated each year.

FUNDS.

Many standard and valuable works have been added to the library, during the year, by use of the income of the Gardner fund. Among the most noteworthy may be mentioned Sir Rutherford Alcock's "Art and Industries in Japan," Mrs. Brassey's "Voyage in the Yacht Sunbeam," Curtis's "Homes of American Authors," Capt. Burnaby's "Asia Minor," Gray's "China," Havard's "Picturesque Holland," Hulme's "Familiar Wild Flowers," "New England Historical and Genealogical Register," (thirty volumes,) "Lang's Cypress," Sir F. Palgrave's "Normandy," Timbs's "Curiosities of London," Stanley's "Through the Dark Continent," and Spedding's "Bacon," and a number of standard German works, including Stolberg, Gleim, Herder and Weiland.

The Hall fund has also been the means of adding to the library a number of books of permanent and positive value, including Cook's "House Beautiful," Duyckinck's "Cyclopædia of American Literature," Guizot's "England," Lessing's Works, Robertson's "History of the Christian Church," Smith's "Ancient History of the East," Tyler's "American Literature," Van Laun's "French Revolution," Vapereau's "Dictionnaire Universel," Finlay's "History of Greece," and Green's "History of the English People."

The Trustees would state that there is some doubt whether the income of the Gardner fund, will be wholly available during the coming year. That fund is invested in a first mortgage on a house owned by the late Arthur Cheney, whose estate is not yet settled. It is not unlikely that difficulty and delay in transferring the investment to some other

That fund is invested in a first mortgage on a house owned by the late Arthur Cheney, whose estate is not yet settled. It is not unlikely that difficulty and delay in transferring the investment to some other security may involve the loss of a portion, at least, of the year's income of the fund.

STATISTICS.

The total number of volumes now in the library is 22,925, and of this number 1,540 have been added during the past year.

The circulation for the year has reached 47,295 volumes, of which 44,736 volumes have been for home use. Some 2,559 volumes have also been consulted for reference.

The Board take pleasure in commending the faithful service of the librarian and her assistants. Although the service required of them during the year has been more arduous than in any former year, it has been performed energetically and efficiently, and to the satisfaction of the Trustees.

The Trustees request, as in former reports, the co-operation of the citizens in making the library more and more valuable and practically useful, and to this end request that any one who observes any deficiency in the library, either in books, periodicals, or the method of performing the library service, will communicate his suggestions to the Board, who will give all such suggestions due attention.

The Trustees present this, their twenty-second annual report, and the reports of the librarian and the treasurer of the Board.

The library is in a more satisfactory condition than for some years before. The circulation is as large as ever, and it is believed by the Board that its usefulness has been undiminished during the past year, notwithstanding that it was necessarily closed during some weeks for the purpose of making the special examination. The experiment of furnishing accommodation for the younger frequenters of the library in the outer hall, where they might conveniently use the illustrated newspapers and magazines, and thus leave Gardner Hall for the use of older readers, appears to have resulted well and to have added to the comfort of both classes.

PRESERVATION OF BOOKS.

The mutilation of books, an evil referred to at some length in the last annual report, continued to increase, until it became necessary to close the building for nearly eight weeks, to the end that each book might be carefully examined, page by page, and thoroughly cleansed.

This was accomplished by the expenditure of great labor and considerable money. Many volumes were found to be so badly defaced that no pains could render them fit for further circulation, and they were necessarily replaced by new ones. In others, scribblings were erased when in pencil, noted when in ink, and the books made as presentable as might be under the circumstances.

The librarian's report gives the number of volumes thus discarded.

It being evident to the Board that the establishment of some entirely new regulations had now become imperative, it was determined that a system should be at once adopted which would lead to the detection of those wantonly destroying the town's property, and expose them to well merited punishment.

The rule was adopted that every book should hereafter remain in one day before being re-issued and should be during this interval carefully inspected. This procedure has vastly increased the work, and rendered necessary the employment of additional aid. The result has been, however, eminently satisfactory. A number of convictions have been made, and the books are returned in comparatively good condition.

No better method of preserving the library suggests itself than the continuance of this regulation. It is, however, to be regretted that the money which otherwise might be devoted to the increase of the library should be required to repress vandalism in an educated community like this. Fair usage of books, which one would suppose might be reasonably counted upon in Brookline, would be a saving to the library of hundreds of dollars in every year.

READING-ROOM.

The establishment of separate reading tables for the boys and girls, as already stated, has proved in every way a happy arrangement.

The children are enabled to look over the pictorials without feeling that they may be disturbing those who wish to read the periodicals and newspapers, and Gardner Hall is now a comparatively quiet and comfortable place for the perusal of the large and varied amount of serial literature with which the tables are covered.

A more secluded room, where books of reference can be consulted, and scientific study or historical research prosecuted, is the one great want that is more and more clearly indicated each year.

FUNDS.

Many standard and valuable works have been added to the library, during the year, by use of the income of the Gardner fund. Among the most noteworthy may be mentioned Sir Rutherford Alcock's "Art and Industries in Japan," Mrs. Brassey's "Voyage in the Yacht Sunbeam," Curtis's "Homes of American Authors," Capt. Burnaby's "Asia Minor," Gray's "China," Havard's "Picturesque Holland," Hulme's "Familiar Wild Flowers," "New England Historical and Genealogical Register," (thirty volumes,) "Lang's Cypress," Sir F. Palgrave's "Normandy," Timbs's "Curiosities of London," Stanley's "Through the Dark Continent," and Spedding's "Bacon," and a number of standard German works, including Stolberg, Gleim, Herder and Weiland.

The Hall fund has also been the means of adding to the library a number of books of permanent and positive value, including Cook's "House Beautiful," Duyckinck's "Cyclopædia of American Literature," Guizot's "England," Lessing's Works, Robertson's "History of the Christian Church," Smith's "Ancient History of the East," Tyler's "American Literature," Van Laun's "French Revolution," Vapereau's "Dictionnaire Universel," Finlay's "History of Greece," and Green's "History of the English People."

The Trustees would state that there is some doubt whether the income of the Gardner fund, will be wholly available during the coming year. That fund is invested in a first mortgage on a house owned by the late Arthur Cheney, whose estate is not yet settled. It is not unlikely that difficulty and delay in transferring the investment to some other the evil cried aloud for correction. But the then existing state of nearly every book precluded the possibility of fastening the guilt of mutilation or defacement upon any single individual, since each accused party disclaimed all knowledge of the mischief and declared the book to have been in precisely that state when taken out, consequently it became evident that in order to detect the offender and prove his offence, we must first put the books themselves in such condition as would leave no future possibility of dodging the issue.

A plan was therefore adopted by which every book in the circulating library should undergo a searching examination and be made clean. This meant the erasure of all pencil marks, and the removal of every other form of defacement, so far as practicable, noting all exceptions in order to prevent wrongful accusations when books were again in circulation.

This examination was appointed for August, and extended itself to the latter part of September, a period of nearly eight weeks, during which time nearly 20,000 volumes were carefully examined, page by page, leading to the discovery that over four-fifths of them were more or less marked, and subjects for corresponding degrees of rubbing to make them presentable.

Books were found in every conceivable stage of abuse, thousands requiring hard rubbing from end to end, while a large number (297 volumes) were so utterly defaced as to be worthless, and were necessarily withdrawn and replaced. Hundreds of others, containing torn leaves, were mended by the assistants, and the more dilapidated cases (161 volumes) sent to the book-binder for repairs.

The accomplishment of this task required the entire library force, and the employment of seven additional assistants, besides a volunteer service of several weeks.

To give an approximate idea of its extent, I quote, from my special report in August, the following statistical table of results in the single department of fiction, showing 4,245 injured books out of a total of 5,017.

Alcove.	Vols. examined.	Vols. cleaned.	Vols. withdrawn.	Vols. unmarked.
1	1,166	908	92	166
2	1,165	947	43	175
9	1,310	983	38	289
10	1,376	1,130	104	142
Total,	5,017	3,968	277	772

These four alcoves contained altogether the worst phases of the work, although similar results were reached in nearly all the other departments, except in the number of discarded books, which was much less.

The practical results of this endeavor to secure cleanliness and repress abuse cannot be doubted, when we recognize the facility with which the slightest injury to a book can now be traced, several cases having been already dealt with.

The salutary influence upon the younger borrowers is marked by the caution with which a book is taken, as well as by the scrupulous manner of reporting even torn covers, with an apology.

The effect of the present daily examination and of an occasional challenged book goes far to impress the hitherto lawless ones, with a wholesome respect for the fixed purpose of the library authorities to detect and punish every offender.

The necessity of this constant supervision is very much regretted by the officers of the library, and is felt to be an inconvenience by portions of the community, but it is believed that the preservation of library property warrants the measure for the present, and it is hoped that the good results already shown will lead any who may have felt this annoyance to waive their personal objections in deference to the general interest of the library.

CATALOGUE.

It is now more than five years since our catalogue was published and copies freely supplied for use in the library. Numerous expedients in the way of interleaved catalogues, annual lists, and monthly bulletins have been adopted and maintained, in order to keep pace with the new books added, but the time has arrived when these have ceased to be useful by reason of their multiplicity.

All these methods have served their purpose well for the time originally intended, but beyond this point their practicability may be reasonably questioned.

At the time the interleaved catalogues were recommended and introduced, some of the members of your Board will remember that my estimate for their probable time of service was about five years, and experience has verified the estimate, for that term has fully expired, and the capacity of these catalogues will have reached its utmost limit in less than six months.

The remedy lies in the publication of a full supplement to the catalogue of 1873, which shall include all the accessions since that time. This supplementary catalogue would represent nearly 8,000 volumes, and would make a handsome volume of about 350 pages, or half the size of the present catalogue, which represents over 16,000 volumes.

The need of such a catalogue has been forcibly felt for more than a year, and was suggested in the last report, but in deference to public feeling in regard to expenditure the matter was not pressed. It now becomes necessary to make an urgent appeal in behalf of the speedy undertaking of a work which every interest of the library and of the reading public demands.

Foreseeing the time when this necessity would inevitably come, I have, in addition to my regular library duties, taken the responsibility of preparing, in a measure, for the emergency, by keeping a manuscript copy of all new titles, which, when arranged and revised, will furnish printer's copy.

Should the wished for appropriation be granted, the careful preparation and final revision of this copy will require nearly three months, the printing and proof-reading will need two months more, so that within five months we could issue a supplement equal in merit to the catalogue itself, and in every way worthy of the Brookline Public Library.

CATALOGUE FOR SCHOOL USE.

A conviction has been growing in my mind for several years, while watching the manufacture of juvenile literature and its effect upon the young, that the entire freedom which our public libraries afford to school children for indiscriminate and frequent use of these books is a positive injury to them, leading to a most inordinate consumption of such reading matter, which is altogether incompatible with true mental training and growth.

Nothing is more helpful or more pleasurable than well-chosen reading for the young, but that they themselves are always capable of making their selections wisely, is a question which should give serious concern to every parent having the welfare of childhood at heart, and one whose discussion has led to an effort on the part of the School Committee and Trustees to furnish some guidance in the choice of books from this library, by the compilation of a catalogue which shall serve the immediate needs of school children and diminish the chances of unsuitable selection.

This catalogue has been prepared with a view to meet the wants of the more advanced pupils of the High School, as well as of the different grades of the grammar schools, consequently it covers a wide range of books and a diversity of tastes ; but it has something for all, and it is hoped that all classes will find it helpful in the choice of books, and leading to higher and better results in education.

CONCLUSION.

The monthly bulletins have been published regularly, and aid sensibly in giving the freshest accessions free circulation. The sixth annual list of additions accompanies this report and furnishes a convenient reference list for home use.

Thus the record of the year's service will attest the genuineness of every effort to reach the highest measure of usefulness, and to preserve the standard of the library unimpaired. If these efforts meet your approval, our work will have been amply repaid, and encouragement given for the future.

REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1876.

The Trustees present herewith their nineteenth annual report, together with those of the Librarian and Treasurer.

The number of our citizens taking out books has steadily increased, but we think that others, perhaps, are not sufficiently aware of the opportunities for instruction and recreation that our Public Library affords. To such we would re-state some of its resources and facilities.

The Library is well supplied with works of history, both ancient, modern and political, of biography, of travel and adventure, of science and fiction, essays and reviews, poetry and the drama, agriculture and rural affairs, and natural history — with reading for the young, for the student, the mechanic, the farmer, for the teacher and the pupil, for the business man, the professional man — all our people, men and women, can find something in our Free Public Library to interest, inform or amuse. They have only to go there, and complying with the necessary forms, call for the book wanted, and it is given to them. The Librarian, Miss Bean, is very familiar with the contents and arrangement of the Library, and is competent and ready to assist those looking up special subjects when desired.

The printed catalogue and a list of the monthly accessions are conveniently placed for those who make use of the Library, and there are still a number of copies of the catalogue in the hands of the Librarian to be had at a nominal price, which are very desirable for home consultation.

STATISTICS.

The Librarian's report shows that the additions to the Library during the year have comprised 1,461 volumes, besides 569 pamphlets and 527 unbound periodicals. The total number of volumes in the Library at the end of the year foots up 19,323. The number of regular book borrowers entered on the register, and who hold cards, has increased from 2,412 last year to 2,767 this year. The circulation of books taken from the Library during the year has reached 45,427, while 2,584 books have been consulted in the Reading Room. Thus the total circulation has been 48,011.

GARDNER FUND.

The resources of the Gardner fund have been employed in the careful selection of elegant, useful and standard works, which add an element of permanent value to the Library. As will be seen by reference to the list purchased from the fund, these works are various in character. Some of them are practical and scientific, such as Bicknell's "Wooden and Brick Buildings," Woodward's "National Architect," Eastlake's "History of the Gothic Revival," and Viollet-le-Duc's elegant "Discourses on Architecture." Fifty-one volumes of "Notes and Queries" have been added from this resource; a good pictorial edition of Lossing's "Washington," Rousselet's magnificent work on "India and its Native Princes," and Van Laun's translation of "Molière." Several valuable historical and antiquarian works have also been purchased from this fund.

FRENCH AND GERMAN CLASSICS.

There having been some demand for French and German works of standard reputation and value, the Trustees have thought it best to add a few such works to the shelves of the Library. A careful selection of French and German books which were most likely to suit the purposes of borrowers was made, and as a result the works of Pascal, Madame de Sévigné, Molière, Balzac's “Scènes,” Schiller and Goethe, in the original, have been purchased.

PAMPHLETS.

Our pamphlet-room contains a large stock of material, which up to the present time, we have been unable, on account of pressure of other work, to arrange and classify. Most of these pamphlets are worthy of preservation. Many are of considerable value, and some are of especial rarity. During the coming year this department will receive the attention so long necessarily deferred.

A large number of pamphlet-boxes have been ordered from the manufacturer. These are cases made of wood and covered in the semblance of a large volume. The back is made to open and disclose the contents in place, with an index showing the position of each enclosed document, thus once arranged in their proper order every pamphlet will be easily accessible without disturbing the remainder.

The Trustees would urge upon the citizens the importance of preserving for the benefit of the Library the multitude of pamphlets now used for lighting fires or condemned to the waste basket. The selection of valuable matter by the Librarian would be very different from that made at home. A series might often be completed from a pile apparently worthless, and missing links are probably now lying in many a Brookline garret which, valueless where they are, would be of the greatest aid in making up historical files.

DEPARTMENT AND ORDER.

Gardner Hall, the Reading Room, is intended for those who wish a quiet, comfortable place in which to study, or to examine the periodicals. The advantages of such a room are appreciated by many, and the Hall is often filled. Its privileges, however, were so much abused, that the following notice was put up of necessity :

The Reading Room is open to all persons above the age of fourteen years, of respectable character, and of such orderly conduct and condition as not to interfere with the occupations and comfort of others.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

THE Trustees submit their twenty-third annual report, together with the report of the treasurer of the board, and that of the librarian.

Those of our citizens who take an interest in knowing what becomes of the annual appropriation made by the town, and of the revenues derived from the Gardner and Hall Funds, and how much benefit the public derives from the expenditure, will find in these carefully prepared documents the information they may desire.

The general condition of the books is satisfactory. The thorough overhauling and cleaning of dirty and defaced books last year, and the enforcement of fines for scribbling and mutilation, have helped to produce this result.

The library-building is in good order, and requires only a small sum at present to preserve it in the way of usual annual repairs.

The continued usefulness and benefit to the people, of our Public Library, is evident from the large number of books in circulation, and the increase of the number of takers of books; and the reading-room, this year, has been more resorted to.

Many valuable standard works have been purchased from the income of the Gardner and Hall Funds, as will be seen in the librarian's report.

The total number of books now in the library is 24,018.

Circulation for the year, 53,094.

Accessions for the year, 1,093 volumes and 311 pamphlets.

The library needs very much a supplement to the catalogue. The present catalogue, printed in November 1873, contains the titles of nearly sixteen thousand volumes, which is about two-thirds of the number now in the library. We have a consulting interleaved catalogue, in manuscript, of all the books, but this will rapidly wear out, besides being inconvenient to consult. The estimated cost of a supplement is a thousand dollars for preparing

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

THE Trustees submit their twenty-third annual report, together with the report of the treasurer of the board, and that of the librarian.

Those of our citizens who take an interest in knowing what becomes of the annual appropriation made by the town, and of the revenues derived from the Gardner and Hall Funds, and how much benefit the public derives from the expenditure, will find in these carefully prepared documents the information they may desire.

The general condition of the books is satisfactory. The thorough overhauling and cleaning of dirty and defaced books last year, and the enforcement of fines for scribbling and mutilation, have helped to produce this result.

The library needs very much a supplement to the catalogue. The present catalogue, printed in November 1873, contains the titles of nearly sixteen thousand volumes, which is about two-thirds of the number now in the library. We have a consulting interleaved catalogue, in manuscript, of all the books, but this will rapidly wear out, besides being inconvenient to consult. The estimated cost of a supplement is a thousand dollars for preparing and printing. In the opinion of the Trustees it would be better to set about this work now, and we ask the town for an appropriation of a thousand dollars for this purpose.

We would call attention to the report of the librarian, which is quite full in detail in regard to the administration of the library.

The work of carrying on this department requires skill, as well as patient and continuous attention, and we have every reason to be satisfied with the faithful services of the librarian and assistants.

The Gardner Fund, concerning which some anxiety was expressed in the last report, has been paid over without loss of either principal or interest. It has been so judiciously re-invested, that its securities stand to-day at a premium, — a result which the Trustees are sure will be as gratifying to the town as it is to the board.

The Trustees feel that the aim of the Brookline Public Library should be in the future, as it has been in the past, to stand in the front rank of institutions of its class.

It has always received liberal support from the town, and from private citizens. If it fails in maintaining its just rank, or in being, in the broadest sense of the word, a good to the townspeople, the fault must lie with the board itself.

Progress means change. What is now seemingly the best will doubtless be improved upon in years to come.

The Trustees, therefore, would welcome the kindly criticism of their fellow-citizens in the conduct of their trust. The thoughtful suggestions of all friends of the library will always engage the serious consideration of the board.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1879-80.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 2, 1880.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library.

GENTLEMEN, — My eighth annual report is herewith respectfully submitted, embodying the leading facts and statistics for the official year ending Jan. 31, 1880, as shown by the library records.

The uniformity of library work, and consequently of its history, from year to year, makes it quite impossible to avoid wholly a stereotyped form of report, which fact must be my apology for any lack of freshness observed in the present one.

The retrospect of the year now under consideration reveals nothing out of the ordinary current of events. The working condition of the library has preserved the same satisfactory showing as in previous reports; the growth of its various departments has been steady and wholesome, affording increased facilities for usefulness; while the daily tide of circulation has ebbed and flowed with a regularity and certainty that leaves no doubt as to the popular appreciation and use of the library.

A somewhat careful observation of this circulation indicates that its character has changed for the better in several ways, notably in a diminution of the demand for juvenile fiction, in an increased tendency to turn the general and special resources of the library to practical account for purposes of study and research, and in an improved standard of general reading. These indications are certainly hopeful, and promise the best results both to the library and to the public.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

The library, which now numbers more than 24,000 volumes, has never been in so good condition to fulfil its highest ideal, not only as a dispenser of recreation and amusement, but as a powerful ally of our school system and an educator of the people.

Its alcoves are liberally supplied with standard works in nearly every department of general literature and learning, and the whole collection is as well preserved as the constant circulation will admit.

Let it not be inferred, however, that the library has attained perfection, and stands in no further need of improvement. No library can reach that happy state, since it must grow perpetually in order to do its best work. The truth in regard to our own library is, that, while the shelves are so well stored with carefully selected books, they still show many deficiencies which, it is hoped, the future will supply.

The year's record compares favorably with those past in point of growth and preservation. The addition of 1,093 volumes increases the contents of the library to 24,018, all being in general use, except 1,547 duplicates.

The effect of the daily examination of incoming books has been, not only to check the special mischief against which it was directed, but also to secure more careful usage of books in general at the hands of borrowers. These results are proved by the facts that fewer volumes have been withdrawn on account of wear and tear, and that a much smaller number than usual has passed through the bookbinder's hands. Still further corroboration lies in the fact that less than fifty cases of abuse have been reported and dealt with, — none of them of the more flagrant type, and in many instances only requiring a word of caution or a slight reprimand. Twenty-seven persons, however, have paid fines either for mutilation or marking of books, these fines amounting to $12.26.

Nine volumes have also been replaced at the expense of their respective borrowers, in accordance with the library regulation respecting lost or permanently injured books.

ACCESSIONS.

The present report cannot exhibit the exceptional figures of last year's accessions, although the average yearly increase has been fully kept up. An occasional excess of additions, like that last reported, is due to an unusually large supply of gifts. This rarely occurs on consecutive years, therefore the present statistics suffer by comparison.

The accession catalogue registers the purchase of 667 volumes, 7 pamphlets; and the gift of 274 volumes, 304 pamphlets, and 653 numbers of unbound magazines and papers, not including those gifts of current serials which are regularly received and entered in the periodical accession book, and counted as volumes after having been bound. The binder's schedules record 90 additional volumes of bound periodicals, and 62 volumes of newspapers, which, with the purchases and gifts, make a total increase of 1,093 volumes, 311 pamphlets, and 653 miscellaneous numbers.

The usual characteristics of our annual purchases are noticeable in the predominance of works of permanent worth and interest. One important and progressive step has been the purchase of the latest editions of several of the principal encyclopædias for the reference department, and the transfer of the earlier editions to the general library for circulation. Prominent among them must be mentioned "Chambers's Encyclopædia," revised edition, and the ninth edition of "The Encyclopædia Britannica" (Scribner). The latter was bought for home use, since the same edition, published by Little, Brown, & Co., already belongs to the reference library.

Many other interesting and valuable works deserve notice, but must be passed with a simple reference to the appended lists of special and general accessions.

There has never been a year within the history of the library when its friends have not added materially to its supplies by timely and repeated acts of generosity. The past year proves no exception to the rule, but has the same pleasant record to make, as may be seen by reference to Appendix A, wherein it appears that the ladies have taken the lead in large contributions. Among the noteworthy examples may be cited Mrs. Cabot's contribution of theological and religious works; Miss Deane's gift, consisting of a variety of useful and curious books; Miss Nickerson's collection of books and unbound periodicals; and the late Miss Harriet Woods's files of educational magazines.

It would be an agreeable task to enumerate other gifts of the year, but the limits of the report will not permit. Before the subject is dismissed, it may be well to add that the newspapers presented by Dr. R. M. Hodges last year have been bound agreeably to the terms upon which they were offered, making sixty volumes all told.

A complete set of "The Radical," given by Mr. C. K. Whipple on similar conditions, has also been bound and placed upon the shelves.

CIRCULATION.

The library year included 307 working-days, during which time 50,435 volumes were delivered for home use, and 2,659 volumes for use in the library; making the entire circulation 53,094, at an average of 173 per day. During the busiest season, from January to April, the average ran much higher, culminating in the week ending March 1, 1879, when the delivery for home use alone reached the rate of 239 per day; that week's total issue amounting to 1,437 volumes. The largest single day's issue numbered 357 volumes, and was recorded one week later, or March 8, 1879.

This circulation of 53,000 and upwards is in account with 4,359 registered borrowers, represented by as many cards; although it is certain that not more than two-thirds of these cards are in actual service, and probably not more than one-half are in constant use for the entire year.

The only loss incident to this large circulation is that of two novels, both easily replaced at a trifling cost. In each case the books were loaned to persons whose sense of duty failed to prompt the return of borrowed property when their transient residence in town ended.

Postal notices have been sent to 3,194 persons for the detention of books over time, the fines thereon amounting to $122.53.

LIBRARY WORK.

A close following of the foregoing facts and statistics will have proved that the year has been a busy one, requiring steady application to the routine work of each department in order to secure the clear record, finished to date.

The circulation and daily examination of books have involved the handling of more than 159,000 volumes. The covering and labeling of books add nearly 9,000 more, which, with the books scheduled to the binder, and the volumes of pictorial papers supplied at the desk, make a showing of over 170,000 volumes that have passed through the hands of the library assistants, and it gives me pleasure to report that these duties have been most faithfully performed.

Beyond the accomplishment of the regular duties of my own department, the special work of supervising the printing of the School-list has been attended to; and the indexing, assigned to me for the new edition of Poole's "Index to Periodical Literature," has been carried forward whenever opportunity offered, and has nearly reached completion.

Other extra work of the year has been the preparation of a new interleaved catalogue by Miss Ames. This catalogue, which contains all the accessions for the past six years, revised and alphabetically arranged, must soon become our sole reliance for desk service, until an appropriation for the supplement can be obtained.

CATALOGUES.

The condition of our catalogues was fully reported last year, and the necessity of a printed supplement clearly shown. It is therefore needless to say that the status of affairs has not been improved by another year's accessions, and that the same urgent appeal holds good for the present report.

The expedient of the new interleaved catalogue will only afford temporary relief, and, judging from the usage of former desk catalogues, can scarcely be made to do a whole year's service.

It will perhaps be remembered that my last report referred to the preparation of a catalogue for the guidance of school-children in their choice of books. This catalogue entered upon its mission shortly after the publication of the report; and it is gratifying to learn that it has met the cordial approbation and support of many parents and teachers.

Although not disseminated among the pupils as widely as might be wished, there are yet evidences that it has been faithfully used by no inconsiderable number of them with beneficial results; as I learn from a teacher most interested in the matter, that a marked improvement has been observed in the reading of those classes where its use is most general.

If an imperfectly tried experiment can show such encouraging results, what might we not expect from a more thorough test of the merits of the catalogue?

The usual bulletins continue to be published monthly, and are used freely in the library; but are very rarely purchased for home use, where one would suppose they would be most serviceable.

The seventh annual list of additions appears with this report, but somewhat changed in the method of its arrangement, a partial classification being substituted for the former single alphabetical arrangement by authors. I think that this change will render consultation easier and more satisfactory, and therefore submit it in the hope that it will meet general approval.

Looking over the ground covered by this report, it will be evident to every unprejudiced mind that the library has done much effective work, with fair promise of greater activity as a more widely spread knowledge of its capacity for helpfulness becomes general.

MARY A. BEAN,
Librarian.

GARDNER FUND.

The income from this fund of $ 10,000, given to the Library by Mr. John L. Gardner, has been expended, as heretofore, in the purchase of many choice and valuable volumes, without which, the Library would lose much of its character and usefulness.

THE OLD ELM.

The widening of Washington street, carried through during the past year, whilst subjecting the Library lawn to the loss of a portion of its extent, has very much improved the appearance of the street itself, and consequently of its surroundings. The Trustees viewed the project with much solicitude, as the existence of our one old Elm seemed threatened by the change of line and grade. Prompted by their own anxiety, as well as by the expressed desire of many old inhabitants, they used every effort to preserve this landmark; and there is reason to hope that it has escaped all harm, and will continue to be, as it has long been, an ornament to the neighborhood.

JANITOR.

Early in the year, it was found absolutely necessary to meet the growing demand for a janitor for the Library building, who should devote his entire time and attention to its care, to preserving order in and around the building, and to the performance of whatever duty the requirements of the Library may demand. Mr. James Healy was accordingly chosen to that office, with a salary of $50 a month. Mr. Healy has also been appointed a special policeman without pay. The results of this movement have been of decided advantage to the Library. The Reading Room is kept quiet and in perfect order; the entire building is clean and neat, and the Trustees feel that the valuable property under their charge is now more safe and secure from accident or loss. Mr. Healy's services have been highly satisfactory and acceptable to the Librarian and her assistants.

NEW READING ROOM.

The Trustees are more than ever impressed with the need, which has before been referred to, of an additional Reading Room on the lower floor of the Library building, which shall be devoted to the use of those persons who desire to consult our full collection of books of reference, and the more costly works on Art, Science, Natural History, etc., which cannot be intrusted to general circulation. Gardner Hall has become attractive by means of the number of reviews and illustrated and other serials displayed upon the table. But the Trustees are convinced that it no longer serves the purpose of those who seek an opportunity for quiet reading and study, which every well-regulated Public Library should afford.

The Trustees are aware that at a time when economy is especially demanded, no unnecessary expenditures should be urged upon the town; but they feel it no more than their duty to call attention to a need which has increased with the growing demands of the reading public.

They are content to leave the whole matter to the intelligent consideration of the citizens, in the confidence that the same spirit of liberality which has created and sustained an institution, now grown to be a model of its kind, will at a fitting time grant the necessary means for an addition which will so greatly add to the measure of its usefulness.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

THE Trustees herewith submit their twenty-fourth annual report, together with the reports of the librarian and of the treasurer of the board.

The number of books in the library is 25,181.

The circulation during the year has been 47,036.

The additions to the library during the year have been 1,163 volumes and 313 pamphlets.

For the details of the management and work of the library reference is made to the report of the librarian, hereto appended.

The Gardner Fund and the Hall Fund are well invested, and the income, in accordance with the previous practice of the board and the intention of the founders, has been expended in the purchase of books of a superior character.

These funds have enabled the board to gradually raise the standard of the library to a much higher point than a restriction to town appropriations, generous as they have always been, would have permitted.

The books are generally in as good condition as might be looked for in a library worked as hard as this. Frequent renewals of favorite works are demanded, and no inconsiderable portion of the purchases in each year consists of replacements of books worn out.

The work of examining, cleaning and repairing incoming volumes requires the almost constant services of an extra assistant. Most of the labor is necessitated by mischievous mutilation or culpable carelessness, although the last year has shown a marked improvement in this respect. Every boy or girl who reads this statement should understand that the board would be able each year to add nearly two hundred more story books to the juvenile department if the money now expended in repairing unnecessary damages could be devoted to the purchase of new works.

The growth of the library has already forced the board to commence the occupation of the upper story of the building. One of the larger rooms has recently been shelved from floor to ceiling for additional accommodation. This will not only give room for the large number of bound newspapers, but will also provide for about 1,500 volumes of public documents. From time to time as the necessity arises, as it certainly will at no distant day, the other rooms can be utilized in the same way, and if the walls of the board room also be thus occupied, possibly from 8,000 to 10,000 volumes might be accommodated.

In the book hall some changes are contemplated. The alcove devoted to natural science will probably be soon required by works of travel, and the scientific books thus displaced will be then transferred to one of the gallery alcoves. Other classes are also outgrowing their old quarters, involving other changes.

The reading room has been much more used during the past year than ever before. The trustees have endeavored to make the tables attractive by the variety and amount of serial literature supplied, and they believe that few town libraries in the country show a longer list of periodicals and newspapers than this.

The supplementary catalogue is well under way, and will be in due time ready to go to press. This will include the most costly and most intrinsically valuable portion of the library. No effort has been spared to make a volume that will be of the greatest use to the hundreds of townspeople who are daily seeking books. It will be almost entirely the unaided work of the librarian.

One must know something of the science of cataloguing to appreciate the amount of learning, skill and perseverance involved in a work of this character and extent.

The board hope and have reason to believe that the result of the outlay involved will be highly satisfactory to the town.

The Brookline library is one of the largest, and, it is believed, one of the best of town libraries. In its historical and scientific departments it offers opportunities for researches of an extended character, while its departments of poetry, fiction and other lighter literature embraces all that is likely to be called for. If in any one department it has not met the expectations of any person, the trustees will be glad to have their attention called to the supposed deficiency.

The suggestions of all persons familiar with library matters or interested in literary pursuits will always be welcome to the board. A book may be found at the delivery desk in which the titles of any works called for, not already upon the shelves, may be entered. Such entries receive critical attention, and frequently bring before the board works of merit that might otherwise escape notice.

It is gratifying to the trustees to be able to state that all the duties of the library in the various departments have been, as usual, discharged in an entirely satisfactory manner during the year past, and they desire to express their full appreciation of the valuable services rendered by the librarian and her assistants.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT, 1880-81.

BROOKLINE, FEB. 1, 1881.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN, — The doings of the library for the official year 1880-81 are herewith respectfully presented in my ninth annual report.

Little or no deviation from the beaten track has marked the course of library matters, and its history might almost be told by last year's report revised and corrected to date. Nor does such a fact indicate lack of vigor or inactivity on the part of the library, but rather the harmony of a working system in such complete running order that its ends are accomplished with nearly uniform results, and always without resort to experiments and expedients which are the bane of library existence.

That our library is enabled to maintain such a practical and convenient system, is undoubtedly due to the fact that, thus far in its history, it has never appealed in vain to the liberality of the town for either measures or means, when shown to be for the real advantage of the library. How great a source of congratulation this generous support is, can scarcely be appreciated enough!

To this support in the past we owe our present position among the representative town libraries of the land, — with its continuance in the future we may justly hope to stand without a rival in all that is excellent in library work.

In presenting the following statistical items, I beg indulgence for the familiar form they wear, pleading absolute impossibility of avoidance when dealing, year after year, with obstinate facts and figures on identical topics.

CONDITION OF THE LIBRARY.

The aggregate number of volumes now in the library amounts to 25,181, which, with the exception of 1,596 duplicates, are subject to all demands of circulation and reference, and yet no year in our history exhibits a more satisfactory record as to the general preservation of the property of the library.

This is true not only of the books, which usually suffer most seriously, but also of the library rooms that, for cleanliness and order have no rival, if one may credit the universal testimony of library visitors and strangers.

A marked feature in the present condition of the books is the rarity of carelessness and abuse while in borrowers' hands, a state of affairs as gratifying as unusual, and undoubtedly brought to pass by our practice of daily examinations; a practice therefore, to be commended for continuance.

In evidence of this improvement, I have to report less than a dozen fines imposed for maltreatment of books, only 53 volumes worn out and withdrawn, and but 192 volumes rebound — an experience which certainly has not occurred in the last nine years.

As agreeable as this record seems in comparison with former complaints, one cannot help regretting that the result has been obtained through compulsion of fines, rather than through that nice sense of honor which should prompt conscientious care on the part of all who share the benefits of the library.

ACCESSIONS.

Since the last report the library has acquired 735 volumes by purchase, 249 volumes by gift, and 179 volumes by the binding of the year's periodicals, making a total increase of 1,163 books.

The accession of pamphlets amounts to 313, and all of them gifts. Beside these, 107 unbound numbers of magazines and reviews have been contributed, together with 29 government maps, 1 wall-map of Massachusetts, several broadsides, and Mr. Atkinson's chart of "Our national domain."

The new books exceed in number those of last year, and certainly equal them in standard merit and usefulness. In the absence of the usual annual list it will be impossible to call attention to the general excellence of the purchases as a whole, nor will space admit any special mention of the more important works save as they occur in the appended lists of purchases from the Gardner and Hall funds.

We are indebted, as in years past, to a host of friends for numerous and valuable gifts — especially to Hon. William Claflin for United States government documents, Hon. E. I. Thomas for state documents, and Hon. Charles L. Flint for a valuable collection of agricultural reports. To these and the hundred other benefactors our acknowledgments are tendered for the favors of the past year.

The annual growth of the library is rapidly filling up all available shelves, so that, even with the present moderate rate of increase, not many years can elapse before additional shelf-room will be needed, the first movement having already been forced upon us by the over-crowded state of the alcove of voyages and travels, which can only find relief by displacing its next neighbor, which in its turn relegates the public documents to the upper story, where they will, when arranged, form a special department. This work is only planned and the preliminary step of shelving the necessary room in progress; before our next report I hope to see this work completed, but do not propose to undertake it until the supplement to the catalogue is finished.

CIRCULATION.

The statistics of circulation register 305 working-days, in which 44,585 volumes were delivered for home use, averaging 146 per day. This account shows a decrease of several thousand from the last report, and may be partially explained by the fact that the average circulation of juvenile books has been greatly reduced—a change in nowise to be lamented.¹

Among the items of possible interest in connection with this delivery for home use, may be mentioned the largest and smallest daily loans, which scored respectively 368 volumes on the 17th of April, and 45 volumes on the 1st of July, 1880.

Besides the 44,585 volumes reported above, an additional 2,451 volumes have been charged for special reading or reference within the library, making the entire circulation, so far as recorded at the desk, amount to 47,036 volumes.

The unregistered loans of bound volumes of pictorial papers, like Harper's Weekly, London Illustrated News, and Punch, are so frequent and numerous that anything approaching an accurate statement of statistics would be regarded as fabulous.

Incident to the circulation, four volumes have been lost and replaced by borrowers, and two lost beyond recovery through non-residents.

Postal notices have been sent on 3,163 overdue accounts, the fines thereon amounting to $126.95. The sum of $3.30 in fines on pencilled books has also been collected.

THE SUPPLEMENT TO THE CATALOGUE.

My earnest wish and endeavor has been to announce the supplement not only in the printer's hands, but well advanced toward completion, and I confess to a keen sense of disappointment at not being able to report its progress up to my anticipations. Yet, in looking back over the year's work, I cannot find occasion to take myself to task for many idle moments for hand or brain, therefore can only solve the discrepancy between my anticipations and actual results by the fact that my regular duties from month to month have occupied so great a share of my time that from five to eight days per month have been all I could bestow upon the preparation of the manuscript, and they who are conversant with the difficulties of cataloguing or the arrangement of copy for the printer will understand that the manuscript for a catalogue of more than 10,000 volumes cannot be successfully prepared and finished in the space of seventy-five days or less, even when consecutive, an advantage which our supplement has not enjoyed.

Notwithstanding these disadvantages, no small portion of the alphabetical arrangement is completed, so that I think I may report, with reasonable confidence, that the printing can begin in June, and if fair success attends the work, the supplement may be ready for use by the middle or last of September, at which time begins the busy season, when the need of a complete catalogue is most urgent.

The principal work remaining to be done, after the completion of the alphabetical arrangement, is the final revision of the entire manuscript, with a last search for unknown authors; a critical eye to all possible inaccuracies of cataloguing and numbering; and a careful supply of the necessary directions and signs for the guidance of the compositor. This revision exacts the strictest attention and care, since upon its faithfulness depends the accuracy and reliability of the catalogue.

In consequence of the anticipated supplement, in which all the new books of the year have been incorporated, no annual list of accessions will accompany this report. This list will undoubtedly be missed by many of our constant readers, but it is hoped that the temporary inconvenience will be counterbalanced by the greater convenience of the full catalogue when ready for service.

The bulletins of the past year can partially supply the lack of the annual list; and the interleaved catalogue at the desk, which continues to be posted from month to month, may be relied upon for authoritative information as to the contents of the entire library.

CONCLUSION.

From the foregoing statements may be gathered all the principal features of condition, accession and circulation; the details of every-day library duties can never be written or sung, for their name is legion, but being met one by one and day by day, it gives me pleasure to record that the library corps faithfully hold the vantage ground.

Thus another library year has accomplished its work, rendered its account, and taken its place with its predecessors in the long line of years whose annual reports must serve as milestones along the way of progress for nearly a quarter of a century, and in entering the twenty-fifth year I beg to suggest the propriety of making it a memorial year worthy the institution and worthy the town of Brookline.

Librarian.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

THE Trustees herewith submit their twenty-fifth annual report, together with those of the librarian and the treasurer of the board.

The report of the librarian is a full and comprehensive account of the present condition of the library, and tells in detail the story of its management for the twelve months past. The report of the treasurer shows the Gardner Fund and the Hall Fund to be advantageously invested, and the income to have been regularly paid in.

The number of books in the library is 26,158.

The circulation during the year has been 43,699.

The additions during the year have been 977 volumes and 186 pamphlets.

The great undertaking of the year has been the Supplementary Catalogue. It contains all the additions made to the library since the publication of the catalogue of 1873, and contains the titles of more than 10,000 books, with voluminous cross references and carefully studied analyses. Although the number of books included is less than one-half of the total number on the shelves, it is safe to say that it represents the most intrinsically valuable portion of the library. The income of the two funds having enabled the trustees to purchase during the last nine years, numerous works of high character and considerable cost.

The task of compiling this catalogue has been accomplished by Miss Bean, the librarian, without extra aid, and its magnitude can only be appreciated by those conversant with the science of catalogue work. Miss Bean has also had the sole

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

THE Trustees herewith submit their twenty-fifth annual report, together with those of the librarian and the treasurer of the board.

The report of the librarian is a full and comprehensive account of the present condition of the library, and tells in detail the story of its management for the twelve months past. The report of the treasurer shows the Gardner Fund and the Hall Fund to be advantageously invested, and the income to have been regularly paid in.

The number of books in the library is 26,158.

The circulation during the year has been 43,699.

The additions during the year have been 977 volumes and 186 pamphlets.

The great undertaking of the year has been the Supplementary Catalogue. It contains all the additions made to the library since the publication of the catalogue of 1873, and contains the titles of more than 10,000 books, with voluminous cross references and carefully studied analyses. Although the number of books included is less than one-half of the total number on the shelves, it is safe to say that it represents the most intrinsically valuable portion of the library. The income of the two funds having enabled the trustees to purchase during the last nine years, numerous works of high character and considerable cost.

The task of compiling this catalogue has been accomplished by Miss Bean, the librarian, without extra aid, and its magnitude can only be appreciated by those conversant with the science of catalogue work. Miss Bean has also had the sole superintendence of the printing of the five hundred and forty pages, which in itself has involved a great amount of labor.

The Trustees feel that they cannot too much commend this elaborate and skilfully prepared volume, which they believe will compare favorably with the best of its kind.

The sheets are now printed and in the hands of the binder, and the frequenters of the library will soon have the opportunity of availing themselves of the great additional facility thus afforded.

Twenty-five years have nearly elapsed since the germ of the Brookline Public Library, consisting of 900 volumes, appeared in a corner of the old Town Hall building. These were opened to the town on the second of December, 1857. The first quarter of a century of its existence, however, will be rounded out on the 30th of March, this year, that being the month when the town voted its establishment.

Perhaps no institutions have won their way to public favor more rapidly than town libraries during that period, and in no case is this fact more strongly illustrated than in that of Brookline.

When the erection of the library-building was contemplated, so strong was the opposition to it in certain quarters, that an injunction against it was actually applied for in the Supreme Court. To-day a fine building containing over 26,000 volumes, with a reading-room upon whose tables are spread 78 periodicals, provides for the old and young, literary instruction and entertainment, which the inhabitants were formerly forced to seek at a distance or live without possessing.

It has endowments from private citizens amounting to $15,000, and receives liberal appropriations for its maintenance, annually voted by tax-payers with rarely a dissentient voice.

The duties of the library for the past year, have been, as heretofore, faithfully attended to by those in charge of the several departments. Whilst testifying to the merit of all, the Trustees would especially recognize the devotion of the librarian, who, tied to her desk by the extraordinary labor required by the new catalogue, voluntarily sacrificed her vacation, and remained at her post without relaxation, during the entire summer.

The Trustees earnestly desire to consult all the varying tastes of those who call for books, and therefore would again call attention to the register kept at the delivery desk, in which the titles of all books called for or suggested, and which are not already in the library, may be entered.

Such entries are always carefully considered by the Trustees, and some of them have brought under consideration books of value, which would possibly not have been otherwise added to the library.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 1, 1882.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN, — My tenth annual report is herewith respectfully submitted, setting forth the details and results of our library work for the official year ending January 31, 1882.

I cannot forget that this contributes to the twenty-fifth report of the institution, a point in its history which seems to call for more than the ordinary record of a year's work, and I had hoped to prepare a careful resumé of the history and work of the quarter century as well, but the task of printing the Supplement has so completely absorbed my time up to date that no thorough investigation of the records and reports has been possible, consequently the attempt has been reluctantly abandoned, rather than treat the subject but indifferently well.

I may be pardoned, however, for having appended to this report, as a matter of interest to the curious, and of possible use to the statistician of the future, a tabular statement of the growth and circulation for the whole twenty-five years.

The special history of the year 1881-2 has several elements for congratulation beyond its general maintainance of rank in condition, growth, and circulation; or the accomplishment of its full measure of routine and special work. These elements go below the surface of demand and supply of current reading, and strike the deeper mines of study and research.

There really seems to have sprung up a realization of the fact that there is hidden wealth in the library, which all may share for the asking, and it gives me genuine pleasure to report that some of this wealth is being appropriated in directions which can but produce the best results.

CONDITION.

The library is in every way well-conditioned and well-prepared to do efficient work, its entire collection of books is fully catalogued, and the books themselves in as good condition as constant use will allow.

There are no serious complaints of abuse to make, although several fines have been imposed and collected during the year, and quite a number of cases are still awaiting my attention.

The number of books worn sufficiently to be withdrawn or re-bound has also been comparatively small, only 77 volumes being totally unfit for use, and 214 others sent to the binder for repairs.

Our shelves now contain 24,441 books in actual service, and 1,717 unused duplicates, making an aggregate of 26,158 volumes, and it may safely be added that the library, as a whole has been so carefully and judiciously selected that few changes could be desired, even in the light of recent criticism and discussion.

ACCESSIONS.

The story of accessions may be briefly told: fewer gifts have been received, less books purchased, and a smaller number bound from the current periodicals than usual.

Despite this falling off in figures, the accession catalogue and book-binder's schedules, together record 629 purchases, 231 gifts, and 117 bound serials, making a total increase of 977 volumes; with the additional items of 186 pamphlets and 248 miscellaneous numbers of magazines and reviews.

Contributions of books, pamphlets, and sets of unbound periodicals have been received from numerous friends, and their kindness is gratefully acknowledged. Many of these gifts deserve special mention, both on account of their number and value, but the limits of the report will not permit, and attention can only be called to them in a general way by reference to Appendix A.

CIRCULATION.

The record of circulation shows 306 working-days, in which 43,699 volumes were delivered for home use, averaging 143 per day. The downward tendency of these figures is owing, in a measure, to known efforts on the part of parents, teachers, and library authorities to stem the tide of rapid and indiscriminate reading which has been so prevalent among the young. This indication of partial success becomes, therefore, a matter of rejoicing.

The extremes of daily loans were reached on March 5th and June 17th, when 374 and 18 volumes, respectively, were delivered.

An additional 1,866 volumes have been loaned for reference and special use in the reading-room, making the entire supply of books, as recorded at the desk, amount to 45,565 volumes.

Three books have been lost during the year, two of which were immediately replaced by the losers, and the third promised. One book, accidentally injured, has been rebound at the expense of the borrower.

Postal notices have been sent on 3,014 overdue accounts, and fines to the amount of $123.07 collected.

THE SUPPLEMENT.

It gives me pleasure to report the completion of the long-needed and long-expected supplement to the catalogue. Its preparation and printing has been the great work of the year, and one which has occupied all my time and thought for nearly ten months. The intense anxiety and mental strain of such labor can never be fully understood except by those familiar with catalogue work and catalogue proof-reading. I therefore despair of giving any adequate idea of the ordeal, even to those of you who are most conversant with my methods of work.

The first draft of titles was in manuscript-slips at the time of my last report, and portions of the work were alphabetically arranged. Since May last, the alphabetical work has been completed, all new books, up to July, have been catalogued and incorporated in the manuscript, and the whole carefully revised and corrected.

The work upon copy was far enough advanced to begin printing September 1st, and the entire catalogue was completed January 31st. The volumes are now in the hands of the binders and will be ready for delivery within two weeks. The work is finished. If it only proves all that I have striven to make it, and wins your approval, the labor will not have been in vain.

In reporting at length upon my special work, I cannot but remember my indebtedness to Miss Woods, who has been indefatigably at her post, relieving me not only of all care of that department, but cheerfully taking many of the details of my usual work upon herself, besides rendering valuable assistance upon the new supplement, by verifying all the numbers from the proof-sheets. My appreciation of these special services, and of the faithful and efficient discharge of duty on the part of both assistants is gratefully acknowledged.

MARY A. BEAN,

Librarian.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees herewith submit their twenty-sixth annual report, together with those of the librarian and the treasurer of the board.

The treasurer's report shows that the Gardner Fund and the Hall Fund are in sound condition, and that the income has been regularly paid in.

The report of the librarian gives, as heretofore, a detailed account of the year's work, and a statement of the present condition of the library.

The present number of volumes in the library is 27,089.

The number added during the past year is 957.

The number lost during the year is 2.

The average daily circulation has been 148.

The total circulation has been 48,852.

The continued growth constantly demands additional extent of shelving. Improvements in the librarian's room for increased accommodation of books of reference, and for works of exceptional value, have proved of advantage in rendering some attempts at classification possible, and have also added materially to the comeliness of the room itself.

The hard-pine floor of the large book-hall, having in consequence of shrinkage and splintering, reached an uncomfortable, unsightly, and more or less dangerous condition, the Trustees decided that the time had fully come for a good hardwood floor to be laid down in its place. This has accordingly been done in oak, in a most workmanlike manner, and the new floor has the unqualified approval of all connected with the library, and is much admired by visitors.

Among other gifts which have been received, is the large government map of the United States, for which the library is indebted to Hon. John W. Candler. This fine map is twelve feet in length, by eight feet in width, and will be of interest to those who care to study the enormous growth of the country. Owing to its great size, no wall space could be found for it in the lower halls, and it has accordingly been hung in the board room, where it can at any time be examined by making application at the delivery counter.

Among the more important works added to the library during the year, from the income of the Gardner and Hall Funds are the following :

Baroness Bloomfield's Reminiscences of court and diplomatic life, Dictionary of needle-work, Sir. G. W. Cox's Mythology of Aryan nations, Grace's Landscape painting in oil, Leitch and Callow's Easy studies in water color painting, Reiss and Steubel's Necropolis of Ancon in Peru, Stuart's Funeral tent of an Egyptian queen, Winsor's Memorial history of Boston, Lacroix's XVII^{me} Siècle, Foster's Peerage, baronetage, and knightage of the British empire, Freeman's Reign of William Rufus, Geikie's Text-book of geology, Green's Making of England, Jesse's George Selwyn and his contemporaries, Rawlinson's History of ancient Egypt, Antique views of the town of Boston, and Ashton's Social life in the reign of Queen Anne.

The Trustees have given much consideration, during the year, to the vexed question of indiscriminate circulation of works of fiction among the young people of this town. Without reporting any definite action, as yet, in a matter, the importance of which cannot be overestimated, the Trustees wish it to be understood that they will always gladly coöperate with parents and guardians in the endeavor to place a suitable class of literature in the hands of the young. The careful advice, however, and restraining hands of parents will ever be more influential in guiding the reading of minors, than will any regulation that is within the power of the Trustees to enforce.

The duties of all connected with the library have been most cheerfully and faithfully performed during the entire year, to the utmost satisfaction of the Trustees.

many of the books have been in service, and the very great strain to which a large proportion of them have been subjected by constant circulation.

Very much might, however, be said on the necessity of greater care of library books, especially in regard to cleanliness; but I will simply call attention to the fact that 11,800 book-covers had to be renewed last year, a number greatly in excess of anything ever reported, and largely owing to the untidy condition in which books are daily returned to us.

Forty-seven volumes have been replaced out of the ninety-seven withdrawn, and the remainder, with few exceptions, will soon be restored.

In numbers the library has reached an aggregate of 27,089 volumes, and being thoroughly equipped with catalogues, school-lists, monthly bulletins, and all other working facilities needful for the development of this material, it is really equal to an immense amount of additional usefulness, if only its resources and capacity were fully called into action.

ACCESSIONS.

For various reasons our accessions have not equalled in number those of last year, principally because the number of gifts has fallen below the general average, and also because the last half-year's instalment of periodicals has not yet been bound, this item alone making a difference of nearly a hundred volumes.

The purchases of the year outnumber those last reported, although considerable sums have been diverted from book-buying to meet sundry extra expenses, including the laying of a new floor in the book-hall, the new shelving for the accommodation of the reference library, and a new supply of covering paper,—in each case the outlay being warranted by necessity even at the possible sacrifice of a few hundred new books.

The statistics of accessions are as follows:—698 vols. by purchase, 87 vols. by exchange of duplicates, 134 vols. by gift, and 38 vols. by binding of magazines, amounting to a total gain of 957 volumes. The gift of 421 pamphlets and 484 odd numbers of periodicals completing the list of additions.

CIRCULATION.

The circulation for 307 library days has been 45,363 volumes for home use, at an average of 148 per day, and 3,489 volumes for reading and reference in the library, making a total count of 48,852 volumes called for and registered at the desk, or on the Trustees' account.

This delivery indicates an increase of 3,287 over last year, the demand being about equally divided between home and library use, the latter having the lead somewhat, owing partly to the fact that for the greater portion of the year we have been compelled to register every volume of pictorial papers in order to check the mischievous or malicious abuse to which these volumes are subjected—the only sure method being daily examination which brings prompt retribution upon every offender.

The casual accompaniments of this circulation have been two books never returned—two books lost but replaced voluntarily by the losers—three others injured and rebound at the expense of the borrowers—and about sixty cases of pencil-marking and mutilation detected and fined.

Notices have been sent to 2,921 persons for books overdue, the proceeds amounting to $134.81. An additional sum of $16.00 has been collected for violations of the regulation against marking books, making the gross receipts from fines to be $154.81.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

The work of the circulating department has been carried on with great industry and fidelity, and I gladly record my appreciation of the services which keep this work so well in hand.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

The work of the circulating department has been carried on with great industry and fidelity, and I gladly record my appreciation of the services which keep this work so well in hand.

Some important work has been accomplished in my special department in addition to regular duties, principally that of re-arranging the books of reference in the librarian's room, and the necessary re-writing of the shelf-lists; the posting of a copy of the interleaved supplement with accessions from July 1881 to date; and the preparation of manuscript to serve as "copy" for the supplement of the future—all contributing either to the present usefulness or future needs of the library.

TRUSTEES' REPORT.

The Trustees herewith submit their twenty-seventh annual report, together with those of the librarian and the treasurer of the board.

The treasurer's report shows the investments of the Gardner Fund and of the Hall Fund to be in excellent condition.

The report of the librarian to the board gives the condition of the library at the present time, and a detailed account of the work done during the past year.

The present number of volumes in the library is 28,062.

The number of volumes added by gift or purchase since the last report is 973.

The average daily circulation during the year has been 151.

The total circulation for the year has been 50,608.

A large number of valuable government publications have been received from Washington, through the exertions of Hon. John W. Candler and Hon. Theodore Lyman, to whose thoughtfulness the library is much indebted.

While there has been some improvement noted in the care of books in circulation, the Trustees feel that they cannot too often, or too strongly, impress upon those using the library the importance of properly caring for the books while in their possession. The number of cases of wilful injury by cutting, tearing and marking is somewhat unaccountable in the face of the regularly enforced penalties. The services of an extra assistant are in constant requisition for the examination and cleansing of incoming volumes, and frequent renewals are rendered necessary by the partial destruction of books.

Although the wilful injuries are mostly due to the mischief of children, cases are not infrequent which are too evidently the work of adults.

The number of persons desiring to consult the works in the reference library has perceptibly increased. This indicates a growing appreciation of a department which has always been fostered by the Trustees. The new shelving and re-arrangement of the librarian's room has rendered the access to works of this character much easier than before.

The Trustees have every reason to feel satisfied with the management of the library during the year. The work has been done promptly and well. It is believed to have given satisfaction to the public.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, FEB. 1, 1884.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN, — My twelfth annual report is herewith respectfully submitted, containing the yearly repetition of data and memoranda upon the topic of library service and management as existing in this institution.

All along the line of by-gone reports a strong family likeness may be traced, to which the general features of the present one prove no exception, yet it must needs be portrayed in spite of its similitude.

The daily routine of circulation, the monthly accession of books, the occasional advent of gifts, the incidental necessity for re-arrangement of shelves, afford scant material for the inspiration of that time-honored but threadbare production known as the annual report, and this twelfth essay of my own to sustain a long established custom lays no claim to freshness or originality.

After all, it is the unwritten history of our library which is the real history. When we have retold our statistics from year to year, there is still no measurement of the silent and far-reaching influence of our books—no estimate of the incentives to study and research—no record of the numberless times when our treasuries of information have yielded “just the very thing” the inquirer sought—no note of the helpfulness to teachers and pupils—no chronicle of the comfort to the sick or weary, or knowledge of the mere enjoyment of the multitude; yet these are far more truly the important chapters in library history than are the precise numbers of books bought or loaned. They are chapters scattered through the various lives of those who come within the circle of library influence, but quite beyond the grasp of the historian.

There can be no doubt but that all popular libraries, in common with our own, are used more for recreative than instructive reading, although every such library has upon its shelves a much larger proportion of the latter than the former. It is admitted that these standard books rest quietly upon their shelves while their less useful companions go in and out without ceasing, and it has become a problem in many libraries how to set the tide in favor of the neglected volumes.

Partial success has attended the efforts at solution in some localities, and the indications of the past year are that the little wedge, which has been entered in Brookline, is doing its work. Certainly the twenty-seventh year presents no more hopeful sign, in the midst of its general prosperity, than this—that the library has been more frequently used for purposes of study than at any time in its history for the past twelve years.

No effort will be spared to encourage this practical use of higher resources. The mines are here, the superintendents are ready and anxious to develop the stored wealth, all we need is the miners themselves to make this wealth productive. Some have prospected successfully this last year—let us hope the news of their discoveries and good fortune may be spread abroad to the furtherance of the best interests of the library and the community.

CONDITION.

In all respects the condition of the library remains unimpaired, and in some points improved. The over-crowded state of some of the alcoves has been relieved by removal and re-arrangement, and better accommodations for the pictorial papers have been provided in the new case behind the desk.

The steady growth of the library is yearly diminishing the shelf-room in the book-hall and in many alcoves we have nearly reached the limit of capacity. If we would preserve the present systematic classification of books, this necessity must be considered and, we hope, generously met in season to prevent crowding, dividing, dislocation and kindred inconveniences.

The original shelving capacity was estimated at 30,000 volumes, but this would have fallen short several years ago, had we not shelved the librarian's room for the reference books and the room on the second floor for public documents, besides filling up the pamphlet-room with the unused duplicates.

When the library was re-arranged twelve years ago, allowance was made for ten, or possibly twelve years' growth at the rate of a thousand per year. That point has been reached and we now have in the library 28,062 volumes, or, within 2,000 of the original estimate for the book-hall. It will undoubtedly be possible to manage two or three years more with comparative comfort—after that only with positive discomfort.

The state of the books for the year is specially noteworthy, so few having been rebound and still less withdrawn, — only 128 volumes going to the bookbinder and 33 volumes worn out. The condition of the rooms and furniture of the building is also satisfactory, showing careful attention to cleanliness and order.

ACCESSIONS.

The average number of accessions has been reached through the usual channels of purchase, gift, newly-bound serials, and exchange ; ranging respectively 557, 222, 180 and 14 volumes, and amounting in all to 973 volumes.

The relative proportions of these figures vary somewhat from other years, but not enough to call for minute analysis of causes.

In addition to the books above mentioned, the library has also been the recipient of 375 pamphlets and 531 unbound periodicals—these latter enabling us to partially fill a long gap in an important series of reviews..

The subject of accessions cannot be dismissed without acknowledging the number and value of our gifts, and calling attention to a few of the more prominent ones, such as that of Mr. J. Elliot Cabot, which added 45 volumes to our set of the “Revue des Deux Mondes”; those of Messrs. Candler and Lyman, which helped to perfect important sets of government publications; that of Capt. Candage, which materially increases the number of our state documents (one large instalment coming just too late to find entry in the regular list); that of Mr. Darracott, consisting of several scientific works and a valuable collection of reports and pamphlets upon water-supply; and Miss Stevenson’s contribution of United States Sanitary Commission publications, all, as will be seen, from residents of Brookline.

One large India proof engraving of the “Departure of the Pilgrim Fathers” has been presented by Mr. J. H. Sturgis, but is not yet hung for want of suitable wall space.

Gifts from non-residents and societies have also been numerous. Among them may be mentioned those of Rev. C. D. Bradlee, and the Misses Gay of Boston; the American Swedenborg Printing and Publishing Society; the International Tract and Missionary Society; and the Smithsonian Institution. Valuable catalogues from the Ames Free Library of North Easton, Mass., and the public libraries of Fall River and Lawrence, Mass., are also worthy of note.

CIRCULATION.

The statistics of circulation indicate a slight increase in numbers, but not sufficiently remarkable to merit more than passing mention. The library year counts 307 days, with a registration of 46,373 volumes on home slips, and 4,235 volumes on hall slips, making an aggregate of 50,608 volumes used by the public during the year, — the average for home use being 151 per day, and the general average 165.

The largest daily and weekly issues were 380 and 1292 volumes respectively—occurring March 3d and the week immediately following, or that ending March 10, 1883.

The character of this circulation is quite as gratifying as the full statistics, indeed, more so, for while the figures exhibit a healthful rate of reading, the observations on the character show improvement in the kind. This is true in a marked degree of the books used in the library, and to a certain extent of the books going out.

Two books have been lost during the year, in each case voluntarily reported and promptly paid for, so that there is no absolute loss to the library. Three or four cases of accidental injury have also occurred, which have been properly adjusted. Instances of mutilation and pencil-markings are less in number than last year, but still sufficiently frequent to be deprecated.

Fines for the detention of books amount to $146.20, for damage to books $12.70, making the total receipts from these sources $158.90.

READING ROOM AND PERIODICALS.

A very thorough and wide-spread appreciation of the privileges of our pleasant and well supplied reading-room seems to have become general, if one may judge from the constant and practical use to which it is now put. Old and young gather around its tables and share its treasures. This, I know, fulfils a long felt desire on the part of all connected with the library and will be heartily appreciated by all its friends.

I regret that so pleasant a picture should have a shadow, but truth compels me to say that such a shadow exists through the thoughtless, and, I fear I must add, oftentimes wilful indulgence in conversation, in spite of the regulation against it, in spite of admonition, and in utter disregard of the rights or feelings of others.

The already generous list of periodicals has been recently augmented by subscriptions to several of the leading art publications—including the Art Amateur, the Portfolio, and L'Art. These will not lie upon the tables, on account of their value and liability to injury, but will be subject to call at the desk by the use of the hall slips.

A duplicate number of Punch is also to be supplied for home use.

SPECIAL AND GENERAL WORK.

During last summer several important changes were made in the location and arrangement of books. This was undertaken in order to relieve the alcove of travels, which was full to repletion. To accomplish this with the least disturbance of catalogue numbers, books from the 20th alcove were sent up stairs to the public-document room—they being U. S. publications. Books from the 4th alcove were then removed to the 20th alcove, and the overflow from the 3d naturally went to the 4th alcove.

These works of travel have been divided and re-arranged, new shelf-lists made of the two alcoves (1404 vols.) and the books re-numbered to correspond. The present arrangement allows for a growth of ten years and will not have to be disturbed within that time, even in the event of a future enlargement of the library.

One difficulty only arises from this change, and that is, a possible confusion of numbers among the old books of travel when selected from the printed catalogues. All new books belonging to the subject will be clearly designated on the bulletins by the addition of the superior N to the number, as is already done in the annual list of accessions accompanying this report.

The old arrangement of the 4th alcove (natural sciences) remains intact in the 20th alcove, but will doubtless be modified in the course of the coming summer.

This work, with the exception of the moving of books from alcoves 4 and 20, and some assistance upon the re-numbering of the books of travel, was done by the librarian in addition to the regular duties of the year.

The whole story of the circulation department is by no means told by its statistics, which simply give the number of vols. loaned and returned. The careful examination of the whole 50,608 vols.; the re-covering of 11,524 vols.; the sending of 3,199 notices; and the repairing and cleansing of books, must all be taken into account in reaching a just appreciation of this service.

Outside of the routine work, Miss Woods has carefully copied one volume of the interleaved catalogue for the desk, and has posted an interleaved school-list for the use of the young people. This has thrown an extra share of the covering of books upon the second assistant, but none of the work has fallen in arrears.

I may say that these duties have been discharged with a conscientiousness and industry worthy of commendation. Many of them are exceedingly monotonous and even irksome, but they are none the less patiently and cheerfully performed, and I have yet to discover the least evasion of disagreeable work or wilful neglect of any kind.

SUGGESTIONS.

Nothing additional need be said in regard to the catalogues and other aids to the contents of the library. They have all been repeatedly mentioned, and cannot fail to be thoroughly understood.

It may not be amiss, however, to say that the accompanying list of additions is a consolidation of the bulletins of the year specially prepared for household use, which if preserved with those of 1881 and 1882 will form a convenient series of supplements to the larger printed catalogues.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The twenty-eighth annual report of the Board of Trustees, accompanied by the reports of the Treasurer and the Librarian, is herewith submitted:—

By the report of the Treasurer it will be seen that the income of the Gardner Fund and of the Hall Fund have been fully paid in. The capital is securely invested, and has somewhat increased by advance in values.

The report of the Librarian gives an outline of the work accomplished during the year, and an account of the present condition of the library. The present number of volumes is 29,519. The number of volumes added since the last annual report by gift or purchase is 1,457. The average daily circulation during the year has been 144. The total circulation for the year has been 49,308.

The library is indebted to the thoughtfulness of Hon. Theodore Lyman and Hon. John W. Candler for a large number of congressional and other public documents.

Through the consideration of the family of our late and much-esteemed townsman, Hon. Ginery Twichell, the library has come into possession of an important addition to its collection of government publications, among which may be mentioned a complete set of the Congressional Globe, in 113 volumes.

This department of public documents, including the annual reports of our own commonwealth, is increasing so fast, that the trustees have decided to shelve the room above the reference library for its accommodation. The improved facilities for the arrangement of books when this work shall be completed will greatly relieve the alcoves of the main book hall, which will hereafter be devoted exclusively to books for circulation.

By the death of Mr. John L. Gardner, the library loses a most generous patron and long-time friend. The timely gift which established the Gardner Fund has been the means of raising the standard of our library to a point which it would have been unable to attain by the town appropriations alone, liberal as they have always been. We trust the present, as well as coming generations, will always bear in mind that the name of Gardner Hall, over the doors of the reading-room, is there to perpetuate the memory of one who nobly endowed the Brookline Public Library with the power of steadily enriching itself with a high order of literature.

The work of the library in its various departments has been conducted in a manner that meets the unqualified approval of the Trustees, and it is hoped that the frequenters of the building have always found courtesy where they looked for it, and aid where they have asked it.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 2, 1885.

To the Trustees of the Brookline Public Library:

GENTLEMEN, — I beg to present, in my thirteenth annual report, the customary library statistics for the official year 1884-5.

An uneventful year has passed with little, apparently, to mark its progress save the quiet round of daily library duties, yet its summing-up shows a creditable amount of work, and a satisfactory condition of affairs in which funds have been ample, purchases heavier, and gifts both numerous and valuable.

The circulation of books has not only risen to the general average, but continues to show signs of improvement in quality, and has been marked by increased patronage, as shown by the registry of over two hundred new-comers within the year.

It has always been the policy of the library to seek healthful rather than rapid growth, hence each year adds more to the value than to the number of our collection, which we aim to keep in the best possible condition for constant use, and it may be safely said that few public libraries of twenty-eight years' standing have such well-preserved books and property as our own.

CONDITION.

Although constant usage leaves its impress upon all the popular books, I think we may justly claim that their general condition is all that could be reasonably expected, and of the 29,519 volumes upon our shelves not over one hundred are likely to be withdrawn in the coming year, while only 41 volumes were worn out and replaced during the past year.

Quite a large number of books have been rebound since the last report, the schedules showing 381 volumes; but this is not a disproportionate number when we consider the unusually small schedules of the previous year, and the continual service which certain books render.

ACCESSIONS.

General prosperity has marked the year, and its close finds the library richer by the accession of 1,457 volumes, made up from purchases (911 vols.), gifts (408 vols.) and bound magazine (138 vols.), besides 260 pamphlets and 223 numbers of miscellaneous periodical literature.

Among the purchases are new sets of the works of Scott, Thackeray, Ainsworth, Lever, Cooper, and Dumas, which will eventually supply the places of old copies rapidly wearing out in the service.

Besides these works of standard novelists we have added many other important publications to the various departments of the library, including much of the popular current literature of the year.

Our accessions are invariably augmented by the generosity of individuals, and the statistics of the present report show an exceptionally favored year in this respect. Among the noteworthy examples may be named the continuations of the series of "Official Records of the War of the Rebellion," and of the "Tenth Census Reports," through Hon. John W. Candler; the recent publications of the U. S. government, from Hon. Theodore Lyman; Massachusetts legislative documents, 1883-4, from Capt. Candage and Mr. B. F. Baker; eight volumes of "Contested Election Cases," from Mr. George Griggs; "Hunt's Merchants' Magazine," 1839-59 (unbound), from Mr. J. C. Abbott; and a supply of naval literature, once forming a portion of the library of Com. Hull, and presented by the Rev. C. D. Bradlee—in memory of John Etheridge.

We have also received, quite recently, a full set of the "Congressional Globe" (113 vols.), and numerous other congressional documents (49 vols.), from the private library of the late Hon. Ginery Twichell. Through the kindness of his widow and daughter other books are to follow as soon as the librarian can spare time to select from a mass of public documents those which are desirable for the library. This gift becomes a fitting memorial of one who was for many years closely identified with the town of Brookline.

CIRCULATION.

The record of circulation shows a falling off in home reading and a gain in the use of books at the library; these fluctuations are, however, common to all libraries, and therefore need excite no comment, especially as our figures do not go below the yearly average.

The register claims 308 working days, with a delivery of 44,199 volumes for home use, at an average of 144 per day and 5,109 volumes for reading and reference in the library, making the aggregate demand for books to be 49,308.

The extremes of daily issue were 342 volumes on April 5th, and 11 volumes on June 17th, the latter date, with its insignificant circulation, seeming to point a holiday moral.

The pernicious habit of defacing and mutilating books still continues, and accidental injuries sometimes occur, but for the most part the penalties incurred are sufficient to prevent repetition by the same persons.

Fines for the detention of books amount to $139.85; for damage to books, $13.68, making the gross receipts from these sources, $153.53.

GENERAL LIBRARY WORK.

It has always been my pride to report all work finished to date, but the enormous quantity which literally poured in upon us within the last ten days, by gift and purchase, has been quite beyond my ability to complete, and in spite of every effort, the cataloguing of all the accessions since the January bulletin must be carried over to the new year's work.

I believe all the other duties and requirements in each department to have been fully and promptly met, and it gives me pleasure to record my appreciation of the fidelity which the library staff has invariably shown under all circumstances.

If the work of the year, as now reported, proves equally satisfactory to the Trustees and to the public, our highest aim will have been happily realized.

MARY A. BEAN, Librarian.
